Fire District report shows banner year

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Fire Department's annual report has been completed and once again indicates the district is in excellent shape. The department continues to attract qualified volunteers, has reduced response time, and is able maintain an effective public education program.

In 1993, there were no fire fatalities. The department responded to 626 calls last year in both the village and the district. Volunteers logged an average of 200 manpower hours, with 48 active firefighters.

"Generally, the department is in excellent condition," said Chief William Carney in the report. "We continue to attract young members to fill our roster with active, energetic and enthusiastic volunteers anxious to serve our community and this department. With this type of available volunteers we should be able to maintain our level of service to the community as a See REPORT page A10

Pickard is 'All Star' company

Members of the 1994 All Star baseball squads received a gift created right here in Antioch.

Pickard China, of Antioch, just completed, this week, the prestigious commission received from both the American and National Leagues. Pickard was selected to manufacture custom gifts for all members of the 1994 All Star squads.

According to Sandra Parisi of Pickard, the commission originated from two different sources. "There were two marketing groups working with the Baseball Association," said Parisi. "They came to us with their ideas."

Hearing sparks talk on pros, cons of unit school

ALEC JUNGHE

Staff Reporter

Two days of testimony concluded as supporters of a Lake Villa unit school district presented expert witnesses and were cross-examined by objectors to the plan.

A hearing was set by Lake County Regional Superintendent Ed Gonwa to determine if the petition for a unit school district is valid and should be placed on the November ballot. The hearing took all day Monday, resumed at 9 a.m. on Tuesday and ended at 1 p.m.

Unit district backers were trying to demonstrate the benefits and the need for a K-12 school district in Lake Villa Township. Meanwhile opposition tried to prove the hardship the new district would cause on existing districts.

Opponents included Millburn School District, Antioch Community Consolidated School District, and citizens of Millburn, the Millburn Advocates, represented by Trustees Ray Boller and Marie Lyons.

Witnesses testifying on behalf of the unit district included Dr. Adrienne Korr, director of special services for Lake Villa Elementary Schools. Korr emphasized a unit district would be set up for individualized needs rather than fitting students into a high school program.

Korr said the school's

"We are very concerned with the taxpayer obligations with the division of assets."

—Daniel Burke, assistant superintendent, Dist. 34 resources would be better utilized if the students were going to one high school instead of three.

In wake of testimony, objectors pressed concerns regarding impacts on existing school districts.

"We feel it is jeopardizing elementary schools for the additional need of a high school," said Gene Gracey, Millburn school board president.

In a letter to Gonwa before the hearing, Millburn school board outlined concerns it had with the unit district proposal and its affects on Millburn.

"It will place an impossible See SCHOOL page A10

Dozens of area fire department dive teams assisted the Bonnie Brook Department during the search for a Waukegan man at Zion's Illinois State Beach Park. ## Antioch dive team assists in recovery

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch dive team assisted a number of other Lake County Fire Department dive teams in the effort to locate Christian Mortensen of Waukegan. Mortensen, 26, had been swimming in Dead River at Illinois Beach State Park when he and two other friends were caught in a deadly current which dragged them out into Lake Michigan.

Dead River is the site of another drowning last year. Last July, Pedro Ledezma of Hickory Hills also succumbed to the erratic currents of Dead River. Apparently, under certain conditions, the river's current breaks through the sand embankment pouring water into the lake. It has been reported that the river level was in excess of 3 feet above the lake level.

"It doesn't always happen," said Mike Lyne of the Illinois Department of Conservation. "But, with the heavy rains they were caught in the flow."

Karen Remke, 25, of Chicago and Joseph Matthews, 34, of Round Lake Beach, were pulled out of Lake Michigan July 6 when a Lake County Sheriff's Department boat spotted the two clinging to a tree limb. They were treated at Victory Memorial Hospital and released. At that time there was no sign of Mortensen. The search for him had to be called off because of lightning.

The search on Thursday was also held up for several hours because of stormy weather. Over a dozen Lake County fire departments assisted in the dive. Bonnie Brook Fire Department headed up the recovery operations.

"We had our boat there plus our divers," said Antioch's Dive Master Captain Bill Eckert. Antioch has nine certified divers who have advanced training and maintain a training record during the year.

"We got a lot of water around here," quipped Eckert about the number of divers in the department. "Plus, being volunteers, you don't get all nine at the same time."

Antioch's rescue boat was custom built and large enough to handle the waves of Lake Michigan. This incident was the second time Antioch assisted in a rescue this year. The team also helped out in Grayslake during the Memorial weekend drowning.

Taste, Maxwell Street Days on the way

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Taste of Antioch and Maxwell Street Days are just around the corner. On July 21, 22, 23 and 24 (for Maxwell Street Days) visitors come from far and wide to enjoy the tastes, treats, and great sales. But, the celebration is even bigger than that. With three days of great entertainment, there is something for everyone to experience.

On the roster for Thursday's entertainment will be the Discords performing from 7 to 9 p.m. This local favorite vocal group will entertain everyone with the sounds of the '50s and '60s.

Friday, make sure you have your 10-gallon hat, your spurs, and your plaids. All day and night, visitors will be thrilled when country and western comes to Antioch.

Phase II Productions presents a number of country and western acts including the Michael Lescher Band, Lore Anne Merrill, Michael S. Stoinski, and Andrea Kreft.

In the evening, enjoy US 99's own Bill Garcia and his GoodTime Travlin Show. With line dance and instruction, a good time will be had by all.

The Lakes Area Community Band will perform at noon on Saturday, and Echo's of Time will entertain with their rendition of your favorite '50s and '60s music.

Later on, the Fabulous Fish Heads will be on board, followed by the nationally famous Honey Bear Dancers. Winding up the entertainment for the Taste will be the band Grease. A local favorite, the band is styled after the hit film and musical.

Along with all of that free entertainment, the Taste is also a feast of the wonderful restaurants of Antioch. Vendors offer samples of their various specialties and it is an opportunity to try something new.

While at "Taste" testing the marvelous array of "Taste" treats, visitors can also sample fine wines. Armanetti Action Liquors will offer a wide selection of fine wines to sample. Wines from Rutherford, Geyser Peak, and Vendage Vineyards, along with others will be available for sampling.

Children are not forgotten at the Taste of Antioch/Maxwell Street Days. Children's rides, Project Kid Care, along with the Antioch Fire Department Fun Smoke House, will all be there. And, expect a special visit from Ronald McDonald and his Magic Show on Saturday, July 23 from 1 to 2 p.m.

New this year, their will be free blood pressure screening at the Taste. Cancer information will also be available.

After you are done feasting at the Taste, it is on to the fantastic sales of Maxwell Street Days. All the merchants have wonderful bargains, with many items displayed right on the street. From ladies dresses to bones for your pet dog, you can find just about anything on sale during Maxwell Street Days.

So, make sure to keep your calendar clear. Don't miss out on one of the best weekends in Antioch.

Antioch group reacts negatively to Grainger

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Alliance for Better Government, a grass-roots organization in Antioch seeking more responsive local government, rejected the Lake County Board's action to rezone the proposed Grainger site. Chairman of the organization, Roy Sackschewsky, offered some strong words to the board during the meeting. However, other Antioch residents view the board's actions positively.

In a press release, the Alliance stated its belief regarding the zoning changes and blasted the County Board. "The group believes that this rezoning should be denied since the consistent willingness of the Lake County Board to change established zoning to facilitate special business or development interests undermines present and future comprehensive plans. If a plan is frequently changed, then it really is no plan at all. Changing zoning, which is not in the best interest of present residents or consistent with present usage further encourages land speculation."

The Alliance believes the resulting vote on the issue implies a lack of responsiveness on the part of County Board members to voters. "County Board members were elected to represent the people in this county, not special development or commercial interests."

The group viewed the action by the board to be pro-development to the detriment of residents. "It has been noted that this board has sided with developmental interest over sentiments of the majority of local residents in attempting to extend Yorkhouse Road, forcing a riverboat casino in Barrington and Antioch and now altering the residential zoning in Mettawa. It is time that the residents of this county get the representation from their county board."

The Lake County Board had the requisite 18 votes needed to change the zoning of some of the proposed site from countryside to urban/residential/open space. The W.W. Grainger Plan would include the donation of 257 acres to the Lake County Forest Preserve, a 113-acre residential home development, and a 155-acre office complex with 124 acres to be kept as an open area.

It is predicted that the project would create 500 new jobs within three years. In addition, it would add $1.7 million in tax revenue to Lake County.

Not all Antioch residents feel negatively about the project. Ron Maloney, a resident of Antioch and a division product manager for W.W. Grainger was pleased with the county board's action.

"I think that County Board took into account what is best for the entire county," said Maloney. While he recognizes that not everyone is happy with the decision, "You can't please everybody all of the time."

When asked if he had any comment regarding the Alliance For Better Government's position that it is pointless to have a comprehensive plan if it is not followed, he disagreed. He pointed out that the plan had not yet been passed.

"If the plan has not yet been passed, I think it should be open for revision," said Maloney. He went on to suggest that the rigid application of any plan may not be in the best interests of the county.

"If a plan says go straight, and going straight leads you right off a pier, what good is the plan?" Maloney asked. "A plan is only as good as it can be used to look into the future."

Grass Lake teacher resigns after 26 years

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

A beloved teacher from Grass Lake School, Joan Larson, has retired this year after 26 years at the school. Larson began teaching at the school in 1961.

After one year, she left the school to stay home with her growing family, only to return six years later. Larson was a kindergarten teacher for 14 years, moving up to second grade.

"I got to know her when my oldest daughter started school in 1968," said Liz Schmehl, a parent and current school board member at Grass Lake School. "Joan Larson was her very first teacher."

"In the early days, when she had my other children I really felt good sending my children to school," Schmehl continued. "It was a very secure feeling as a parent to put your children in such capable hands."

Superintendent Jim Beveridge, who is new to the district, did not get a chance to work with Larson, but, he said he had heard some wonderful things about her. "From what I have heard, she was an excellent teacher," he said. "I am sorry to lose a competent teacher like that."

Schmehl also worked with Larson as a teacher's aid for the kindergarten. "All of my faith and confidence in her as a parent, was verified after working with her," explained Schmehl. "First hand I saw how she started the little ones on their way. She never missed a day in the year I was there. She got to know each of the children personally and was on top of every situation. Made my job easy."

"I will miss the children the most," said Larson. "The staff too."

Larson has no immediate plans for her retirement. "Catching up on all the things, I guess," said Larson. Larson has two grandchildren now to keep her busy.

Larson said she did not notice any major changes in the children during her 26 years. "The little kids are basically the same year after year," she said. "However, they come in a lot more sophisticated, more worldly because of the society we live in."

Schmehl, as a school board member, was able to get to know Larson on an even different level. "Now, I know her as a school board member. She has just been a fantastic asset to the school," said Schmehl. "She is consistent, caring, and tends the business at hand. She was there for the children."

"I have known her for a long time," explained Schmehl. "I wish her well in her retirement."

Many college scholarships available

Each year individuals preparing to go to college or graduate school face the dilemma of how to pay for tuition, room and board, text books, lab fees and other expenses. That's because college costs have skyrocketed and continue to increase yearly, putting extra strain on family budget and assets.

Yet there are over 375,000 funding sources available to assist these students. Contrary to popular belief, over 80 percent of the funds available to students do not depend on family need or high grades. Many are based on factors such as the student's interests, hobbies, academic focus, age, ethnic background or parent's work or military service.

Remarkably, over $6.6 billion of this funding goes uncollected each year simply because people do not ask for it according to a report by the National Commission on Student Financial Aid. Now a new academic funding publication, updated for 1994 is available to help students through the process and to outline their options and identify sources for assistance.

For information on how to receive academic funding and scholarships, send a No. 10 self addressed, double stamped envelope plus $1 to cover handling to the National Academic Funding Administration, 26 Coe Dr., Suite 1300, Durham, NH 03824.

Police Beat

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ANTIOCH

Vandals paint town

On July 7, person(s) unknown spray painted gang graffiti on a picnic bench in Centennial Park. Police observed the paint color was similar to graffiti found in Williams Park. The estimated damage was $50. An extra watch has been posted.

On July 6, person(s) unknown painted graffiti on the south public works garage. Damage is estimated at $500.

License revoked

John R. Swinke, age 26, of Chicago, was arrested on July 4 for driving on a revoked license. He was stopped after police observed him driving without any headlights. According to the report, after he was pulled over he told police, "I'm revoked. I have been since I was 18." He was also charged with driving without headlights and released on bond.

Firecrackers cause damage

A large firecracker apparently damaged a BBQ grill, when person(s) unknown placed and lit it at an Antioch residence on July 2. Approximately $30 in damage was caused by the explosion.

Man cuts own head

After police stopped Joseph F. Kopernik, age 19, of Antioch for traveling at a high rate of speed and squealing his tires on July 7, they observed a 6-inch cut on Kopernik's forehead. Kopernik told police he had an argument and became so upset he cut his own forehead with a razor blade, which police found on the dashboard of the car. Police had the rescue squad check Kopernik, and then ticketed him for illegal squealing of tires. They also gave him a copy of the Illinois Domestic Violence Act.

Search nets parked plane

Police were dispatched to Hidden Hills Creek Subdivision on July 10, at 2 a.m. after receiving a report that a captain in the Civil Air Patrol had received an emergency locate signal on his radio direction finder. Officers searched the Red Wing Marsh using the direction finder, which indicated the plane was north west. Attempts to locate the plane using flash lights were unsuccessful. An hour later it was learned that the signal was coming from a plane parked in a hanger four miles north in Wisconsin.

Loud music nets burglar

After receiving a report of loud music, police observed Michael N. Figeley, age 27, of Antioch nervously playing his radio on the side of the road on July 10 at 4:25 a.m. Figeley told police he had run out of gas. Police requested permission to search the vehicle, which was granted, and found a jewelry case containing assorted check books and other items, a .20-gauge shotgun with one spent shell in the left barrel and a black knife with 5-inch blade. Figeley was then arrested for possession of a gun and ammunition with out an F.O.I.D. card, no valid drivers license, and uninsured vehicle. Kenosha County Sheriff's officers then contacted Antioch with a request that a hold be placed on Figeley relating to a residential and vehicle burglary. The address of the checkbooks found in the Figeley's car matched that of the burglary address. He was also charged in that crime.

A Lake Villa man was killed after he crashed his motorcycle in a high speed chase.

Brian Gilbertson, 30, of Lake Villa was decapitated after his motorcycle lost control striking a utility pole and then he flew from his motorcycle into another utility pole.

According to Stan Iwan, deputy chief, the incident began about 1 a.m. on Monday morning. He said deputies clocked Gilbertson's motorcycle going at a high rate of speed on Rte 59 and began pursuing him.

Police gave chase and Gilbertson went in excess of 100 mph. "He passed one of the squads at a high rate of speed and was out of sight of Sheriff's vehicles," Iwan said.

Iwan said the three police units found the motorcycle on the corner of Rte. 59 and Beach Grove Road.

"His motorcycle went airborne 138 feet, hit a utility pole 7 feet off the ground. He then flew off the cycle and hit another utility pole and it decapitated him," Iwan said.

Police are unsure of exactly how Gilbertson lost control of the motorcycle. The results of a blood test haven't come back yet.

Iwan said Gilbertson was killed at impact.

Lake Villa Police were on the way to the scene but didn't arrive until after the accident.

New letter scam offers $15 million

NEAL TUCKER

Staff Reporter

You've probably heard the old adage, 'if $50 million sounds too good to be true, then it probably is.' At least, you've probably heard something close to that.

One Grayslake area business man took that advice to heart when he received a strange offer in the mail this week.

Bruce Tonkin, owner of T.N.T. Software, got an offer from a man asking Tonkin to open a bank account, then send him the account number. The man, who identifies himself as Dr. Billyaminu Mohammed from Nigeria, needs the bank account number to deposit $50 million. Secrecy is of the utmost importance according to the letter.

"This is an ongoing scam, according to the Round Lake Post Office," said Tonkin. "but the FBI has never heard of it."

This leads Tonkin to speculate the letter actually comes through the local post office, or district post office. This is actually the second one he has received. He threw the first one away without reading it in great detail. The letter has a Nigerian stamp on it but the cancellation postmark is smudged and unreadable. This makes the letter's presence in the postal system very suspicious.

In return for the bank account number, Mohammed agrees to pay 'Mr. President of T.N.T. Software' 30 percent of the total deposited. The F.B.I. said that possible fraud from another country is out of their jurisdiction.

The agent Tonkin talked to did offer one solution. He said Tonkin could open a bank account and do his best to snare the culprit. He decided the FBI agent's suggestion was not advisable.

"I thought at first I didn't want to get involved in an illegal scheme," Tonkin said, "then I realized that this guy could take the account number, print checks, never get caught, and still hang me for the amount."

Tonkin has been in the software programming business since 1980. He has customers around the world, including Nigeria, but he believes his address was most likely procured through an advertisement in an international computer trade magazine.

Anderson shines at Grass Lake School

Another thank you

Due to the generosity of 66 patrons, consisting of many local businesses, organizations and individuals, the Grass Lake School "Friends of the Playground" patron ad booklet was a big success, earning almost $4,000 toward the beautiful new playground equipment. Above and beyond my personal thank you to all of the generous patrons, I would like to personally thank the following individuals who helped me (Liz Schmehl) in my endeavors as the patron ad coordinator.

Forgive me if I accidentally omit someone, as that is not my intention. Thank you to: Dr. Ruth Bill for her input and ideas of how to get started, Pat Reed for helping me with the financial record keeping, Marty Pearl for the beautiful laminating job of the front and back covers, my husband Jim, and friends, Mane Brausam and Mary Theel, for dropping off and picking up information and ads from the school office, my daughter Donna Schmehl for helping with page layouts and my daughters Karen Schmehl and Donna Schmehl for helping me assemble the booklets.

Last, but definitely far from least, I thank Susan Anderson, who in my opinion, is one of the most efficient, congenial and caring office workers/individuals in "The whole entire world." Susan definitely helped make the booklet become a reality by receiving the ads at school, getting them to me, helping copy the pages, being my extra pair of hands, etc. You name it, she did it. Thanks everyone, and thanks, Susan, you are the greatest! The booklet will be available at school registration and at all school functions throughout the 1994-95 school year.

In good hands

Working with the little ones at Camp Crayon, bopping in and out of Grass Lake School, walking in the neighborhood, watching my own children and their friends in action, or spending a day with my grandchildren always presents me with special moments leaving me secure in the fact that the world will be in good hands, as these younger generations step up to assume their places in society.

Nineteen-year-old Carrie

HOMETOWN GOODIES

395-5380

Hiller is one such an individual. Carrie is quite busy between working, spending time with her family, and going to school, so our chance meetings are few and far between. Besides getting more beautiful each time I see her, I always walk away from our conversations thinking what a fine, intelligent, kind, enthusiastic, caring human being. It was nice talking with you, Carrie, don't ever change and keep up the great work.

Animal story

At the present time my daughter, Donna, is staying in our cottage next to the garage. When she goes to work or goes someplace in the evening, she puts her two cats outdoors. She then places their food and water outside the cottage door in case they get hungry in her absence. It didn't take long for the local raccoon population to discover the bowl of food. If she left the bowl out after dark, they would climb up on the deck to enjoy the feast.

When we realized they were coming, we began making a point to leave a small portion of goodies just for them. We were amazed as they began to come to dine earlier and earlier. We were doubly amazed to watch the coons nibbling away at the goodies, while Donna's cats sat close by. The cats don't mind sharing and the coons obviously don't mind being watched.

When Donna hears the coon(s) arriving, she rings my phone. I stand by the fence on my deck, Donna stands inside the cottage doorway, we talk back and forth over the coon's head and once again he/she obviously doesn't mind as it continues eating. Each time I witness these beautiful animals adapting to the presence of man, not to mention cats, dogs and other creatures, I am amazed at their intelligence.

More about animals

Some things never change and "The Lizard's" summer time animal stories are at the top of my never changing list. This summer we have a mallard duck and her babies, two pair of male and female mallards, a group of four adult Canadian geese, and three individual Canadian geese families coming to feed. One family consists of mom and pop and an only child, another couple has a family of eight goslings and another set of parents boast six kids.

Usually the group of four adults are waiting for me each morning and when I come outdoors they begin to honk by the feeder demanding their breakfast ration of feed. When I pour the food on the ground, I've gotten in the habit of yelling, "come and get it." Usually when I do this, there are no other water fowl in sight.

By the time I replace the feed container in the garage, the duck groupings and the three families of geese have joined the others by the feeder. This prompts me to tear up a few slices of bread and sit by the water's edge practically hand feeding them. Yes, living on the beautiful Chain O'Lakes is wonderful, and once again "Dumb Animals Indeed!"

Simon approves of ethanol ruling

"The Environmental Protection agency's final rule on the Reformulated Gasoline Program is a solid policy achievement that advances the nation's environmental, energy and economic goals.

"The 30 percent mandate for ethanol, to be phased in over two years, starting in 1995, secures a market for renewable fuels and ensures that our ethanol industry can efficiently and effectively grow to meet the added demand. I'm pleased that the president has adopted a formula that's workable, economically sound and a clear benefit to Illinois and to key elements of our state's economy.

"President Clinton deserves great credit for his leadership in withstanding pressures from powerful oil interests to support a sizable role for ethanol in cleaning the nation's air. The proof of the toughness of this policy is evident in the opposition it has faced from big oil.

"This is an important victory for Illinois. This is the single most important boost for ethanol in U.S. history. Ethanol's market share will grow significantly with demand for an additional 500 million gallons of ethanol by 1995 to 1996. That will expand the market for Illinois corn. It also will save millions of dollars in farm subsidies and add to the income of our farm families and their communities.

"The economic benefits will range across the economies of the midwestern states. Millions of dollars will be invested in ethanol plant construction and expansion to meet the new demand. This will translate into tens of thousands of new jobs across the midwest.

"Congress has supported the development and expanded use of renewable fuels for more than 30 years, and for good reasons. Renewable fuels, like ethanol and ETBE, offer consumers safe and environmentally responsible alternatives to automotive fossil fuels.

"Without this new policy, ethanol would be unable to fairly compete against other oxygenates being manufactured by the oil industry."

First Chicago Bank sponsors coloring contest

First Chicago Bank-Antioch will sponsor its annual kids coloring contests as part of the "Taste of Antioch" festival, July 21 through 23. The bank will also sponsor a concert by the Grease Band at 8 p.m. Saturday night in Williams Park.

All children will be able to pick up free copies of a cartoon figure "Princess Jessie" at the bank or at many Antioch area merchants. After coloring the figure, entries are to be turned in at the bank, 425 Lake St., at any time before July 24. Entries can also be turned in on Saturday, July 23 at First Chicago's "Bankmobile." It will be parked in the village parking lot west of the "Taste of Antioch." At the Bankmobile on Saturday, from 10 a.m. to noon, entrants will be able to meet Princess Jessie in person. They will also be welcome to play games including a whipped cream eating contest, water games and other festivities, free of charge and sponsored by

First Chicago Bank-Antioch.

Selection of coloring contest prize winners will be by a drawing at the bank during the week of July 25, where all entries will be on display all week.

Grand prize in the coloring contest will be a new Schwinn bicycle, courtesy of First Chicago Bank and Antioch Schwinn Cycles. Second prize will be a case of Farley Fruit Snacks from Jewel Food store in Antioch and third prize of a Baskin-Robbins gift certificate.

Republicans prepare to submit their health care bill

Eighth District Congressman Philip M. Crane, second ranking Republican member of the House Ways and Means Committee, says he and other Republicans will introduce the Republican health care plan to a Ways and Means Committee meeting. The Ways and Means Committee is playing an important role in the health care debate now going on in Congress.

"If the Democrats listen to reason, we should be able to pass a health care package this year," Crane declared.

Among the features of the Republican plan, according to Crane, is a tax deduction for payment of individual health care insurance premiums.

Pre-existing medical conditions would be covered.

The combination of tax deductions and coverage of pre-existing conditions would provide portability, allowing continuous coverage in the event of a job change or termination.

The Republican plan would also permit small businesses to pool their employees to provide for lower cost coverage.

The Republican plan rules out the need of employer "mandates" for a national health care plan.

Report

volunteer department for many years to come."

The Antioch Fire Department's area includes both the Village of Antioch and that part of Antioch Township located within the First Fire Protection District. Covering roughly 34 square miles, there are 24,000 people in the coverage area. The Village of Antioch is under contract to the First Fire Protection District to provide protection in the unincorporated areas of the township.

The department answered 513 fire calls in 1993, up from the 466 of 1992. Out of the total fire calls, 18 were structure fires, two were bomb threats, 19 were vehicle fires, seven grass fires, 36 mutual aid calls, and 117 false alarms.

The largest single item for the 1994-1995 budget the department is requesting is a new dive van. In 1993, the Antioch Underwater Team responded to 29 calls, including nine mutual aid calls. The dive team assisted in both Wisconsin and McHenry.

One of the problems reported by the dive team concerns snowmobiling. "There is still a problem with snowmobiles going out on the waterways," explained Divemaster William Eckert in his report. "When they do go through the ice, they are getting themselves out but not advising the authorities that they have left their snowmobiles in the water."

Last winter, the dive team prepared to risk their lives diving into freezing waters after snowmobiles were found in the water. The current owners had failed to register the vehicles and dispatchers desperately attempted to contact the drivers or their families to find out whether or not the snowmobile operators were safe.

Training is also a very important part of the Antioch Fire Department. The Division of Training is headed by Leonard Sakalowski. Not only are new recruits rigorously trained, but the department also offers many hours of continuous training for firefighters already certified.

"This Division's goal is to allow for safer and more disciplined firefighting presently and in the future, enabling this fire department to complete its job with less risk," Lieutenant Ted Jozefiak, training officer, said in the report.

In addition to firefighting, water recovery, and training, the department maintains an active fire prevention bureau, an engineering department, a hazardous materials response team, a boat operators/safety personnel team, and complete public safety inspections to make sure area buildings are up to code.

School

burden on the taxpayers of the remaining Millburn School District due to the required division of assets. In addition, the board is opposed to the petition as filed due to inaccurate and misleading information included in same," the letter said.

Millburn claims the plan doesn't include rates for such expenses as tort immunity, social security, retirement and working cash. The district is concerned the students taken from the district would leave the remaining residents with a lowered tax base and a debt of paying the division of assets and no way to pay the unit district.

Unit district supporters want to take 85 percent of the students, all residents east of Rte. 45 in Millburn into the new district. The district would have to pay the unit district for the division of the district's remaining assets with 15 percent of the population.

Unit supporters had suggested the school district give the unit district property from the Bonner site in Lindenhurst as a fair division of assets.

Antioch Community

Consolidated District objected to the division of assets as well. "We are very concerned with the taxpayer obligations with the division of assets," said Assistant Superintendent Daniel Burke.

Burke said he is concerned the district couldn't finance the division of assets if the unit district was created. He said the district can't come up with the $2 million in the resulting division of assets.

The Millburn Advocates, eight residents, including the former Millburn school board president Jeff Zaloudek, believe educational opportunities for Millburn students will be sacrificed. The concerns are virtually the same as the board.

Unit supporters focused on the benefits the district is likely to have for area children. "The unit district would provide for better coordination of resources," said Joyce Heneberry, vice chair of the Committee of 10.

The proposed resulting tax rate to residents is expected to be $432 for a house valued at $150,000 for the new district and the cost of building a high school.

Millburn Superintendent James Blockinger said the district will need a building maintenance bond and it's not provided for in the petition. Peter Kohkof, of Mesiro Financial, said the unit district could have an option to create $39.5 million in bonding power if needed. He said the district would likely qualify for an A bond rating.

Unit district attorneys insisted the bond wasn't required in a petition. Blockinger disagreed; he said school codes mandate the cost be included in the petition.

Testifying in support of allowing the petition to reach the ballot were County Board Member Suzi Schmidt and Lindenhurst Mayor Paul Baumunk. Also the Lindenhurst Village Board and Lindenhurst Chamber of Commerce adopted resolutions calling for the issue to be on the November ballot.

The Old Mill Creek Village Board adopted a resolution against the formation of a unit district.

Gonwa has 14 days to make his decision. If he decides the petition is in the best interest of area children he would send it to the state superintendent who would have 30 days to evaluate the decision.

Pickard

Pickard has received many commissions to make custom china for celebrities, including the President of the United States, the Queen of England, and the King of Saudi Arabia. Since 1937, Pickard China has been manufacturing fine china in Antioch.

Each American League player received six fine china mugs bearing the A.L. symbol and hand banded with 23 karat gold trim. Players for the National League were given a large, personalized centerpiece bowl and a set of four individual snack dishes. These pieces were also banded in gold.

During the month of July, these items will be on display in Pickard's Outlet Store, 782 Pickard Avenue, in Antioch. Store hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

Players for the All Star squads are elected by the fans. The Cubs were represented by relief pitcher Randy Myers. First baseman, Frank Thomas was chosen from the White Sox, together with pitchers Wilson Alvarez and Jason Bere along with White Sox manager Gene Lemont. The All Star game was played Tuesday night.

Lake Villa Bronco Travelers take tournament title

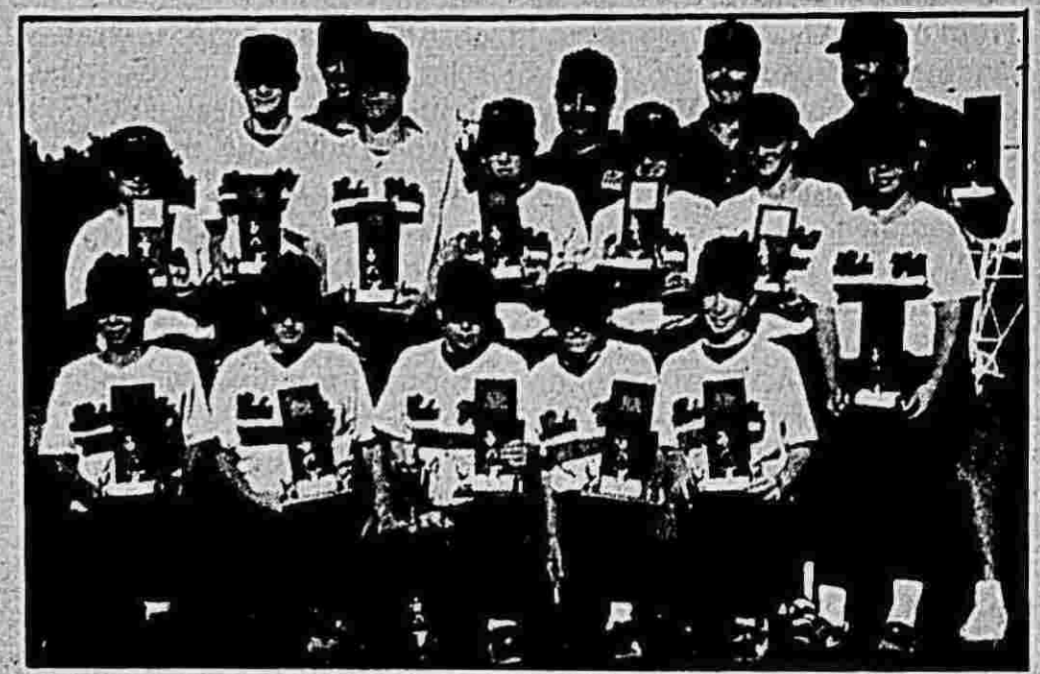

The Lake Villa Bronco Travelers (11 to 12 years old) won the July 8 through 10 Gurnee Bronco Tournament by beating the Northwest Travelers 7-4 in an exciting championship game on Sunday afternoon.

The tournament included 12 teams and was a round-robin affair. There were two six-team divisions in which each team played each other once in their division with the best record going to the championship game. The Lake Villa Travelers and the Northwest Travelers were undefeated in their respective divisions to qualify for the championship game.

Lake Villa beat the Gurnee Tournament team 8-1, Roselle Medinah 6-3, Winthrop Harbor 7-6, Vernon Hills 6-5, and the McHenry Travelers 6-1 to win their division.

Lake Villa is coached by Marc Groth, Len Kocinski, Bill Schuler and Ross Zeller. Team members include Brad Groth, Jason Schuler, Nick Kocinski, Nathan Zeller, Tim Clutter, Chris Chapman, Jeff Norwick, Jerrad Ponce, Tim Good, Brady Schultz, Mike Kral and Matt Petkus.

The Lake Villa Bronco Travelers overall record is 35-9 so far this season.

The Lake Villa Bronco Travelers defeated the Northwest Travelers 7-4 to win the championship in the Gurnee Bronco Tournament last weekend. The team has a record of 35-9 for the season.

Waves swim past Zion to win first season meet

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Antioch's swim team, the Waves, made a big splash July 10 by capturing their first win of the season and taking their fifth victory in six years over the Zion Dolphins.

Either team could have come away with the victory as Antioch's Invitational remained tight throughout the day. Zion took an early 56-44 lead in the relay events, but Antioch swam back to steal a 117-116 lead after the freestyle events.

Antioch eventually prevailed with a 370 final score over Zion's 359. Zion's B team took third place, while Antioch's B and C teams were fourth and fifth place.

"It's been long over due," said Waves Coach Gregg Henning. "The kids really put it together."

Henning pointed out that Antioch's 1-3 record may be mis- See WAVES page A12 leading because many of the other swim clubs the Waves face compete year-round; whereas, Antioch competes seasonally in the summer.

"We're working our way up," Henning said.

The Invite also saw two records broken. Zion's Adam McCreary broke the 9- to 10-year-old boys' butterfly record with a 22.31, last set in 1986.

Antioch's 13- to 14-year-old relay team of Jessica Koss, Roland Behm, Teri Mozal and Matt Wilson broke the medley relay record at 1:22.37.

In individual events Koss surfaced in the girls' 13- to 14-year-old backstroke and breaststroke. Behm led the way in the 13- to 14-year-old boys' freestyle and butterfly.

Also swimming well for the Waves were Kaitlyn Ament and Claire Sheehan in backstroke events, Mozal in butterfly, and Courtney Willding in the breaststroke.

The Antioch Invitational has been sponsored by the State Bank of The Lakes for more than 25 years.

Before the Antioch Invite, the Waves lost to Oswego 294-311 in a North Central Illinois Swim conference meet. Antioch faced Elgin Tuesday and McHenry Thursday.

Winners of the Antioch Waves' Invitational display their trophies. Antioch swimmers and coaches include (first row) Kathy Walker, Amy Graesser, Teri Mozal and Dawn DeSeri. Zion swimmers and coaches in the first row include Tim Hall, Mary Berry, Sam Smith and Roy Berry as well as Florence Babusek of the State Bank of The Lakes. ## Lake Villa aims to end Colts streak

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Round Lake Colts baseball team appears to be putting all the elements together just at the right time.

The Colts extended their winning streak to 10 games by sweeping three contests at Champaign. The wins prepared Round Lake for a key July 14 tilt with Lake Villa.

"This team has very high goals. We have learned to make the most of our opportunities," Coach Glen Jewell said.

The Colts downed two quality clubs in Champaign. Champaign had four losses, Urbana just two defeats. Round Lake opened the weekend with an 11-5 win over Urbana, downed Champaign 12-4 and Urbana 8-4.

Nate Brewer was the winning pitcher in game one. He had 7 strikeouts, scattered 6 hits and 3 walks.

Ryan Johnson led the way with a 2-for-3 day with a double, a walk and scored 2 runs and knocked in a pair. Mike Carlton was 1-for-2 with 3 walks, a double, a run scored and 2 RBI. Rick Trampke was 1-for-2 with 2 walks and 2 RBIs and a suicide squeeze.

Round Lake edged Antioch 8-6 in Mike's Memorial League action.

Antioch teams face tough foes in tourney play

Antioch baseball teams did not fare too well during Little League tournament play.

The Antioch 13-year-old squad lost to Mundelein 21-1 in the District 16 Junior Tournament in Libertyville.

With Antioch All-Stars competing on the traveling team, coach Don Carden scrambled to assemble nine other players from the four in-house senior teams. Tournament rules prohibited traveling players.

Representing Antioch was Dan Paslewicz, Derick McKenzie, Brian Johnson, Nathan Carden, Mark Skorzewski, Gavin Burke, Tim Brankin, Mike MacMillan and Nicholas Freeman.

"We just didn't represent ourselves as well as we should have," Carden said. "So we came out here to do the best we can. It's good experience for the kids, though."

The Antioch team also had to adjust to longer basepads and a longer pitching mound than what the players were use to in home play.

Freeman connected for the team's only hit.

Youth receive awards at state events

Four Lake County 4-H members received Blue ratings in the plant and animal science competitions at the state 4-H Summer events at the University of Illinois.

Chris Smith, 17, Antioch, a member of the Millburn Clovers 4-H Club, earned a blue in the dairy judging contest. He was also named as one of the Top Ten Individuals in the event. In dairy judging, members must rate cows according to appearance and select the heifers they feel will be the best milk producers in the future. In making these judgments the members must know which characteristics to look for in each breed of animal and in different stages of animal development.

Amy Henschen, 11, Gurnee, a member of the Warren Hotshots, was named as a Top Ten Individual and blue award winner in the Jr. Horticulture I.D. and Judging contest. She was required to place eight classes of vegetables, fruits or plants, and identify ninety specimens of vegetables, fruits, nuts, flowers, indoor plants, ornamentals, seeds, bulbs, and herbs.

Smith and Henschen will be competing at the State Invitational Contests in dairy and horticulture respectively at the Illinois State Fair in August.

Jessica Broy, 12, Lake Villa, a member of the Grayslake Eager Beavers, and Felice Kelly, 13, Wadsworth, a member of the Chain O' Lakes club, copped blue awards in the event. They were required to place animals in halter and pleasure classes.

Kate Davis, 12, Antioch, and Bridget Engler, 12, Bristol, Wis., both members of the Chain O' Lakes club, rounded out the Horse Judging team. The team scored fourth place overall in the contest.

Steven Broy, 11, Lake Villa, of the Grayslake Eager Beavers, participated in the Rocket Launch and won a third place in the Spot Landing category.

4-H, the youth educational program of the University of Illinois Cooperative extension Service, is open to all youth between the ages of 8 to 19. For further information about the 4-H program contact the 4-H Office at 223-8627.

Committees back new tax area

Lake County Board finance and public service committees adopted resolutions in support of a special service district.

The district would provide a means of financing a sewer line and treatment plant for the Abbott Laboratories corporate campus and surrounding area.

Villages of Old Mill Creek and Antioch are supporting the district.

"The earliest it could be built is four to five years," Lake County Board Chairman Robert Depke said.

He said the area would include Grandwood Park, whose treatment plant would be shut down.

The Lake County Board was expected to consider the matter at its July 15 special meeting.

Businesses assist in child care dilemma

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

With so many working families in Lake County, some area businesses have responded to the pressing day care needs by sponsoring various programs. Companies today provide employees with day care referrals, on-site day care, special funding accounts to pay for day care, and even permit very young children to be brought into the office.

Hewitt Associates, in Lincolnshire, has the largest number of programs for working parents. The company has an entire department, Worklife Resources, to help with working families. From elder care to childcare, Hewitt has just about every program imaginable and three, full-time resource consultants who work exclusively to help employees access the programs.

"It is a challenge for us," said Magaly Haldeman of the Worklife Resource Department. "We are spending a great deal of time evaluating the needs of our associates."

The company offers day (and elder) care resource information and referrals. "We also have a near-site day care location in which we have preferred slot arrangements," said Haldeman. "We also offer discounts with child care centers in the area."

Hewitt has the "Kids on the Go," program with allows parents to bring school age children in to work on select school holidays. Working with Children's World Learning Centers, the children are taken on field trips and return to the office at the end of the work day.

Hewitt has flexible spending accounts, which are utilized by parents with children in day care. The accounts allow parents to deduct the cost of child care from his or her paycheck. The money is taken out before taxes are calculated and deducted, and the employee then withdraws the money from the account on a monthly basis. This allows parents to enjoy child care tax credits throughout the year instead of on April 15.

Another account at Hewitt is called the dependent care account. This account pays for child care during an illness of either the child or the day care provider. "For full-time employees, Hewitt will cover the See CHILDCARE page B2

Grainger edges win, opponents persist

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

If the Lake County Board vote on the W.W. Grainger issue was a horse race, there would have been a photo finish.

And after developing the pictures, Grainger would have crossed the finish line by a nose—victoriously.

The race may not be over, however, as losing betters arm to contest the race.

Grainger needed 18 board member votes to secure its multiple zoning change from countryside to a combination of urban, residential and open space near Rte. 60 and I-94. Eighteen votes are exactly what the Skokie-based company got.

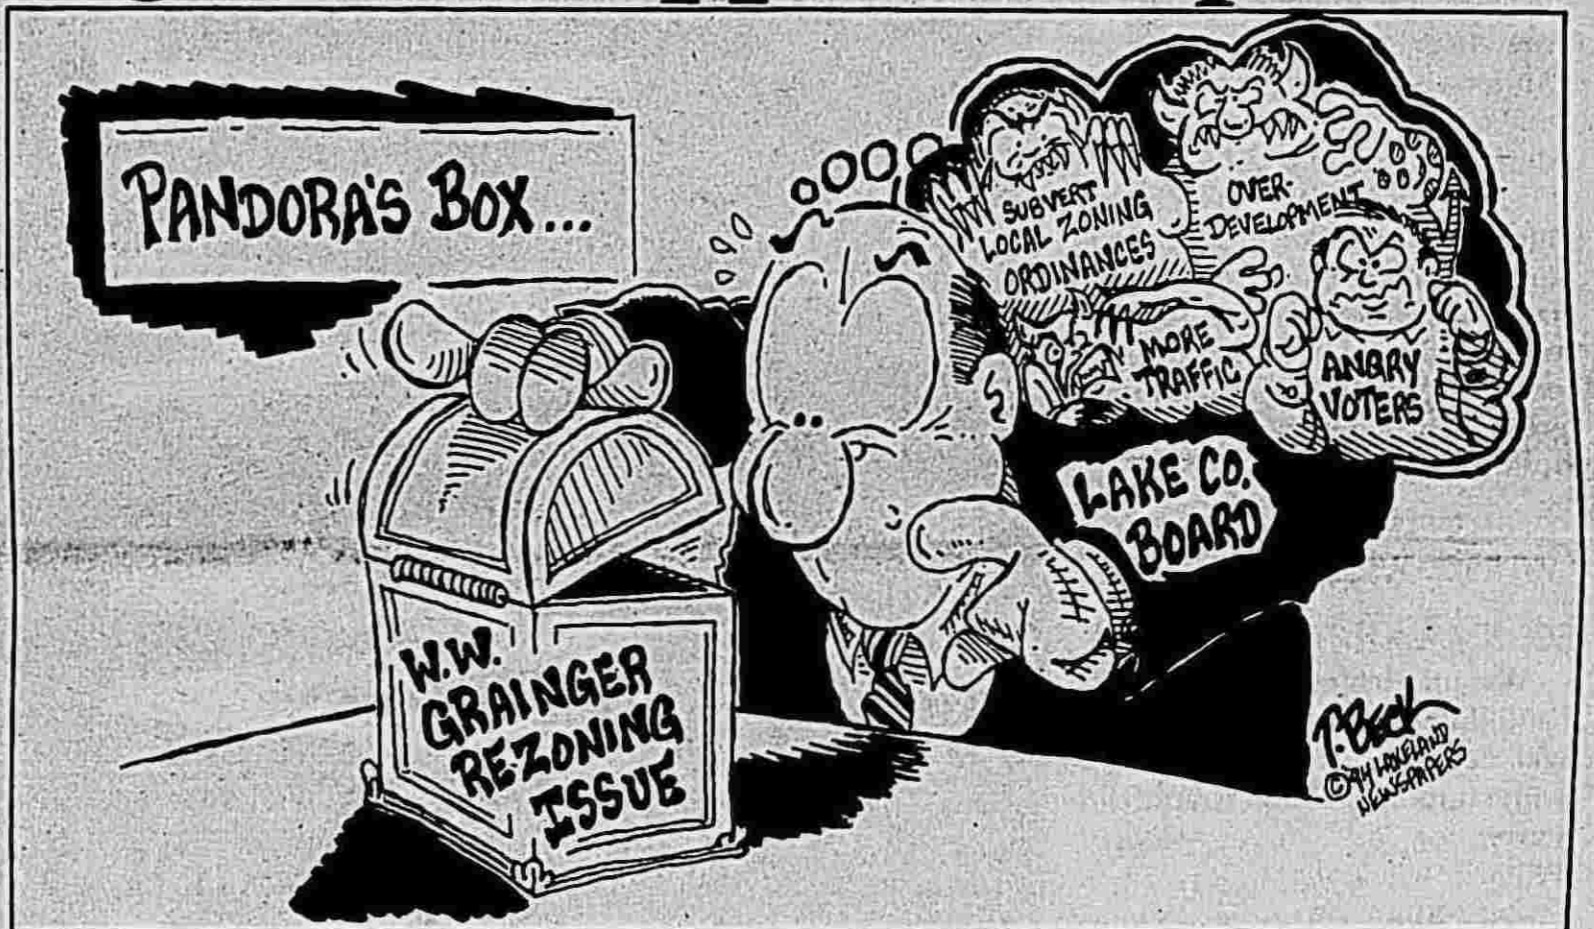

But Grainger opponents suggest there may be more horse races to come.

"Today didn't change a thing," said Jere Zenko, a trustee from Mettawa. "We have options to consider. We'll take a look at what the choices are, and we'll take it from there."

Zenko said she didn't know what options the Mettawa Board may take, but she said, "We'll keep the pressure on."

Grainger watchers knew the vote was going to be close. Even Grainger Vice President Jim Baisley admitted that he was nervous about the vote and did not know whether he had enough votes to assure victory.

He added this is only the beginning of conservation development, an idea in which a developer donates nearly half of its property to open space.

"It is our plan to support the concept (conservation development). We think it's good for Lake County," Baisley said.

In this case, Grainger donated 257 acres to the Lake County Forest Preserve District, while its 1.5 million sq. ft. corporate office is planned on 155 acres and another 113 acres is dedicated to no more than 40 luxury homes.

County officials are considering whether to include conservation development as a zoning classification.

Despite Grainger's conservation development victory, there are a number of issues this vote still may effect.

One important point brought to light that county board members now have to wrestle with is their vote literally stiff-armed an intergovernmental agreement between Lincolnshire, Mettawa and Lake Forest. The three communities zoned the area 5-acre residential before Grainger bought the property in 1987. Grainger later de-annexed from the village to bypass Mettawa's residential zoning.

In updating the County Framework Plan, county officials have stressed intergovernmental cooperation as key to maintaining a balance between growth and preserving open space.

While Grainger's conservation development satisfies both conditions, the board still nullified an agreement between three municipalities.

"They disregarded the people and the Framework plan," said Jack Tindall of Citizens Against Suburban Sprawl.

"The people's voices are not being heard. How can they (board members) last?" Tindall said.

In addition, Grainger opponents have argued that the corporate offices should be located See GRAINGER page B5

County begins hearings on landfill expansion

ALEC JUNGE

Staff Reporter

The Village of Round Lake Park and the Alter Group appear to be the lone dissenters against an expansion request filed by Countryside Landfill in Grayslake.

The Lake County Board began initial hearings on the petition this week in which testimony in favor of the petition was heard.

The request has the approval of the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County (SWALCO).

Jane Pigot, attorney from Winston & Strawn, representing USA Waste, landfill owners, said the landfill application must meet the nine criteria for a landfill. She said the company has spent a great deal of time preparing to make sure the landfill is built correctly.

"It's important to people who live near the landfill to know that it will be safe. We spent two years of work to improve the design," Pigot said.

Andrew Quigley, executive director of SWALCO said he and the member communities agree the expansion is sound and voted for a 20-year extension on it. He testified on behalf of the landfill.

"We went through an extensive review of the design of the landfill," Quigley said. "... The site will be better because of it."

Quigley said Grayslake had asked the agency to assist it with evaluating the environmental impact of the 64-acre expansion proposal. He also said Round Lake Park officials never sought the agency's help regarding the landfill proposal.

Round Lake Park and the Alter Group hired the law firm Jenner & Block to represent them. Village and Alter officials claim landfill expansion may threaten the proposed 600-acre Alter Commercial Development proposed for a parcel off Peterson Road.

Attorney Carey Rosemarin of Jenner and Block asked the board to consider making USA Waste submit a new petition because paperwork was submitted after a June 28 deadline.

Round Lake Park is objecting because village officials don't want garbage trucks going through their community without some consideration given to them. Round Lake Park officials are also questioning why their village is not receiving any benefits from the proposed project. Grayslake will receive a portion of the landfill profits and Prairie Crossing Subdivision will benefit from infrastructure improvements.

Childcare

expenses for five days," explained Haldeman. "We also provide the resources. A parent can call in the night before work and say that their child is sick."

Overnight dependent care is another program at Hewitt. According to Haldeman, if a parent is required to work late at night or if a parent must work out-of-town, and does not have a spouse at home to care for the children, Hewitt will cover the expense of providing care.

"We have an on-site mothers room," said Haldeman. "This is for moms who want to return to work and breastfeed. It helps with the transition."

Abbott Laboratories has several programs to help working parents. Abbott also has a day care resource and referral program which helps parents locate providers. Abbott also offers flexible spending accounts to employees.

Other companies are joining the band wagon. Many companies are offering flex-time, more part-time opportunities, and even "parent" shifts. Janis Plastics, a company moving into the Regal China building in Antioch is planning to run a "parent's shift", which will operate during school hours.

The efforts of many companies, the Child Care Resource and Referral Network, and other similar organizations, are working to ease child care decisions for parents. Parents today have a much greater number of child care options than ever before.

County-wide fundraiser set for Willard Helander

Willard Helander, Republican candidate for Lake County Clerk, will celebrate her election bid with supporters at a "Grand Old Party for a Woman Named Willard." Jack O'Malley, Cook county State's Attorney invites the public to join the festivities from 5:30 to 8 p.m. on July 19, at the Country Squire Restaurant, 19133 Rte. 120 (West of Rte. 45), Grayslake.

"This county-wide fundraising event provides an excellent opportunity for everyone to meet our next County Clerk, a woman committed to serving all the citizens of Lake County. As an attorney, as the first Executive Director of the Transportation Management Association (TMA) and in her many leadership positions with community organizations, Willard has proven she has the leadership, administrative, and cost-effective management skills necessary to be the best possible County Clerk," says David Amory, co-chair of Citizens for Helander campaign committee, immediate past president of Lake County Republican Federation and vice president of Johnson & Higgins of Illinois, Inc.

Among Helander's special guests at the reception will be Keith Magnuson, former 11-year defenseman with the Chicago Blackhawks and Cook county State's Attorney Jack O'Malley.

Tickets for the party are $25 per person. Tickets will be available at the door, supporters are encouraged to RSVP to 680-6680 and mail checks to Citizens for Helander, P.O. Box 6624, Libertyville, IL 60048.

Unit district has detractors

GRAYSLAKE—The Committee of 10 for the Lake Villa Unit School District presented their case for allowing the k to 12 unit district in Lake Villa Township to Lake County Regional Superintendent Ed Gonwa. Unit school supporters had 25 witnesses testify with expertise ranging from financial and curriculum issues, as well as political leaders. Objecting to the petition were Millburn Elementary, Antioch Community Consolidated District and a group of residents represented by two Old Mill Creek Trustees calling themselves the Millburn Advocates. Gonwa has 28 days to make a decision on whether the petition is valid.

Dive teams assist in recovery

LAKE COUNTY—Over a dozen Lake County fire department dive teams assisted Bonnie Brook Fire Department in their effort to locate Christian Mortensen of Waukegan. Mortensen, 26, had been swimming in Dead River at Illinois Beach State Park when he and two other friends were caught in a deadly current which dragged them out into Lake Michigan. Mortensen's two friends were rescued Wednesday, but divers were forced to call off the search because of lightning. Mortensen's body was found Thursday morning near the mouth of the river.

Village seeks open space grant

KILDEER—What started out as a discussion on the first village hall may turn out to include a nature center preserving a vital wetland area. Trustees have applied for a 50 percent matching grant from the Illinois Department of Conservation to purchase a six acre parcel in the village and maintain it as open space. The land includes a stream and wetlands, but officials were reluctant to give any more details about its specific location. One possibility exists to carve out one acre of the site for a village hall. This portion is not included in the grant application, which is requesting $300,000, of which 50 percent would be paid by the village.

Hospital's plans upsets officials

LAKE COUNTY—The rezoning of property owned by Good Shepherd Hospital is now one step away from completion after it received a favorable recommendation from the Lake County Zoning Board of Appeals, and local officials are upset. The hospital received a 6-1 vote in favor of granting suburban zoning to a 41 acre parcel it owns along Route 22 east of Kelsey Road in unincorporated Lake County. Lake Barrington Mayor Barry Hemphill said he was disappointed with the zoning board's decision. Lake Barrington, North Barrington, and Cuba Township all approved resolutions against the rezoning, which will now need a super majority of a three-fourths vote in favor from the Lake County Board to be approved.

Village OK's tax district

OLD MILL CREEK—A special service district is in the works which will serve Abbott Laboratories new site off Route 173. Old Mill Creek village trustees approved the district Monday. Trustee Marie Lyons abstained, saying she did not have enough information. The vote came on the eve of a combined finance and public service Lake County Board committee meeting the next day and a special Lake County Board special meeting July 15.

Task force seeks involvement

MUNDELEIN—In its continuing effort to improve the atmosphere at Whitehall Manor, the Mundelein Task Force is organizing steering committees to address the concerns of residents in that area. They plan to include Whitehall residents on those committees, and eventually turn over the project completely to them. Recent improvements have included rebuilding the pool and installing more lighting in the complex.

Interstate child support bill signed

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Governor Jim Edgar has signed into law the Interstate Family Support proposal sponsored by State Senator David N. Barkhausen. The new law will expedite the collection of child support and alimony from parents living outside Illinois.

Barkhausen convinced his legislative colleagues to include the support bill in House Bill 2424, which dealt with the Baby Richard case. The Baby Richard bill directs Illinois courts to focus on the best interests of a child in adoption controversies.

"The Uniform Interstate Family Support Act accomplishes three important objectives," said Barkhausen. "It will significantly improve family support collection. Second, eliminating the need for legal proceedings in two states, it makes the enforcement process less time-consuming and expensive. Third, from the standpoint of taxpayers in general, it will reduce the pressure on welfare rolls that results from unsuccessful support enforcement."

The uniform state law will allow Illinois to enforce family support orders on non-custodial parents living outside the state. The measure would actually give Illinois jurisdiction over an out-of-state parent who fails to pay court-ordered support for a child or ex-spouse living in Illinois. This eliminates the need for a two-state lawsuit to enforce the orders and delinquent parents would be more easily forced to keep current in their support payments.

Barkhausen is a member of the National Conference on Uniform State Laws, and has been involved since 1983. Barkhausen said he is "pleased that Illinois will become one of the first states to adopt the Uniform Interstate Family Support Act. Ultimately, this will immeasurably improve child and spousal support across the country."

County sets public meetings on consolidated housing

Four public meetings will be held in connection with the county's new Consolidated Housing and Community Development Plan. The purpose of these meetings will be to solicit comments from citizens and the county's housing and community development needs and priorities. The Consolidated Plan will outline the goals of Lake County community and determine how funds distributed through three federal programs will be spent in the future to meet these goals.

These three programs will include the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG), HOME Investment Partnerships (HOME), and the Emergency Shelter Grant (ESG). These programs provided over $4 million to the county in 1994. This funding has been used in the past for housing rehabilitation and development, social services for the needy and public facilities improvements throughout Lake County. Recent examples include CDBG funding of drainage, sewer and road improvements in several municipalities as well as the HOME funded First Time Home Buyers Program, Lake County Housing Authority Homeowners Rehabilitation Program and Habitat for Humanity home-building programs.

A critical step in the Consolidated Plan process is increased citizen participation. The Community Development section of Lake County's Department of Planning Zoning and Environmental Quality will be holding the four public meetings at convenient locations throughout the county, the first being held at Highwood City Hall, Thursday, July 14, followed by meetings at Beach Park Village Hall, Tuesday, July 19; Wauconda Township Hall, Thursday, July 21 and at Lake Villa Village Hall, Tuesday, July 26. All meetings begin at 7 p.m.

All interested parties are urged to attend any one of these meetings so that their views can be reflected in future projects.

Rodeo protester claims he was struck in face

SPENCER SCHEIN

Staff Reporter

An animal-activist protesting the Wauconda Chamber of Commerce Rodeo has filed a battery report with Lake County Sheriff's Police, claiming he was hit by a passenger in a truck.

Steve Hindi, of Plano, Ill., told police he was struck in the face by the back of an unknown passenger in a dark colored pick-up truck at 10:15 p.m. July 8 outside the rodeo fairgrounds on Case Road west of Route 12.

A license plate check revealed the truck belonged to Wauconda Mayor James L. Eschenbauch, who was driving at the time.

While several witnesses back-up Hindi's account, a police report tells a different story.

According to the report, Steve Hindi, a spokesman of the Chicago Animal Rights Coalition, stood in front of the pick-up truck driven by Eschenbauch and motioned it to stop. Words were then exchanged between Hindi and the passenger once the vehicle pulled over to the side of the road. After the vehicle stopped, Hindi allegedly reached into the vehicle and grabbed the passenger's shirt with both hands, a Lake County Sheriff's Police spokeswoman said.

The passenger, who has yet to be identified by Sheriff's officials, allegedly struck Hindi in his face several times until he let go, and the vehicle then entered southbound traffic on Route 12 and continued southbound.

Terri Campbell of the Northwest Animal League said they have hired an attorney and planned to press charges.

A Lake County Sheriff's detective was continuing the investigation, and Eschenbauch could not be reached for comment.

In published reports, he said he wanted to wait until all the information became available before commenting.

Hindi was out-of-town on business and could not be reached for comment.

No other claims of violence or serious injuries were noted.

where jobs are strongly needed, such as Waukegan of North Chicago.

Waukegan Board member Angelo Kyle said he worked closely with Grainger officials to get them to locate in either two towns, but Baisley said Grainger never intended to locate there because its planners said a site along the tollway was the best place for a corporate campus.

"If we were voted down, we would have not gone to Waukegan," Baisley said. "We would have gone to court."

Kyle conceded it is unfortunate Grainger won't locate in Waukegan or North Chicago, but he added there is "light at the end of the tunnel" to help the job situation in those areas, even with Grainger in Mettawa.

Kyle also noted that in personal talks with Grainger the company agreed, in writing, to promote minority hiring. Baisley said it will post job openings with the Urban League and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The key point that may have swayed undecided board members was an amendment drafted by County Board member Richard Raftis (Wildwood) and the state's attorney office.

Grainger officials offered eight land conditions and limitations including, in part, screening all office buildings from view, paying for all road improvements along Rte. 60 near its entrance site, limiting its buildings to office use and prohibiting warehouse and distribution uses, and deeding the 257-acre parcel to the Lake County Forest Preserve District in escrow unless there is a judicial challenge to the re-zoning.

The state's attorney's office also built in a clause to ensure that all land covenants made by Grainger remain with the property in perpetuity even if Grainger decides to sell the land in the future. If Grainger or any other land owner breaks the covenants, the zoning becomes invalidated.

After six years of negotiations with Mettawa, court battles and county hearings, Grainger officials can finally bask in the victorious sun.

Many issues affecting the development have yet to be decided. The primary stumbling block may be sewer service to the site.

The ripple effects of this vote may be just beginning to make waves.

Names of juvenile gang criminals to be released

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Effective on the first day of 1995, the names of convicted juveniles charged with serious crimes dealing with firearms, drugs, and gangs will be released to the public. Under current law, the names of juveniles are kept confidential unless the youthful offender is tried as an adult.

Governor Edgar signed the legislation on July 2.

"Many of our neighborhoods are threatened and terrorized by teen-aged thugs who have operated under the cloak of anonymity because our laws prevented the public from knowing who they are," explained Edgar.

The new law grew from a resolution adopted by the Aurora City Council last year. Apparently the city was having problems with both gangs and juvenile offenders.

"The action I am taking today will keep those strict confidentiality provisions in place for juveniles whose actions do not pose a threat to the security of our communities," said Edgar. "They should not be stigmatized for those less serious offenses. But, the public will know the names and the addresses of those teen-aged criminals who are threatening the peace and security of their neighborhoods."

However, there still are some concerns about the new law. One worry is once a juvenile is labeled a "criminal" he or she will be stigmatized. Other criticisms of the bill include problems with the wording. Some are upset juvenile rapists would be excluded from disclosure as well as juvenile murderers not using a gun. Others are concerned disclosure includes vandalism, if gang related.

Landfill protest has political tone

There is more of a tone of politics than a touch of poignancy in Round Lake Park's attempts to throw a wrench into County Board approval of Countryside Landfill, the designated solid waste disposal site with a future life of 20 years or more.

With Countryside at the threshold of final approval, the village decided through a high powered Chicago legal firm to mount an official protest of the long-standing facility that has been injected with new life and legitimacy by new owners.

Mayor Charlene Beyer laments that her community is being "dumped on" by proponents of expansion of the Rte. 83 facility that is closer to Grayslake, Libertyville and Mundelein than Round Lake Park householders. Buttressed by placard carrying protesters at the county building, Mayor Beyer insists that Round Lake Park will not become a "sacrificial lamb in exchange for a stopgap solution."

An attorney representing both the village and the Alter Group, a North Shore concern interested in developing land at Rte. 83 and Peterson Rd. for nearly 20 years, found dire environmental implications in landfill expansion plus a negative influence that 300 garbage trucks a day would have on a proposed Alter industrial park.

Little noticed in proceedings before the County Board's Regional Pollution Control Committee is the fact that Countryside's nearest neighbor is Prairie Crossing, an upscale residential development going up on Rte. 45. Interestingly, Prairie Crossing developers have been supportive of USA WasteServices Inc. plans to seek permission to landfill an additional 64 acres up to 130 feet high.

At the heart of Round Lake Park's objections may be the fact that the village has become a late player in negotiations with the county and landfill owners for fees and other enabling agreements that have been arranged to pave the way for the county's orderly disposal of solid wastes for years to come.

If that's the case, Round Lake Park has opened the door for what could well be one last round. When largesse is on the table, it's better to be late than never.

Park won't be 'dumped on'

Editor:

The Lake County Board will soon decide whether or not to grant Countryside Landfill permission to extend the life of the facility by another 20 years. USA WasteServices, Inc., operators of the landfill, have done an admirable job of neutralizing the most potentially vocal objectors, the county board will easily approve their expansion.

In reality, there are vocal and well-organized objectors. Round Lake Park vigorously opposes the proposed expansion, because it provides only one route of access to the landfill—east or west of Peterson Road and north on Rte. 83. This re-routing of truck traffic is particularly disconcerting for Round Lake Park, because it sends more than 300 garbage trucks every day through a new 600-acre business park that is our only hope for economic and employment growth.

We agree that solid-waste disposal is of paramount concern to the region. However, we will not be a sacrificial lamb in exchange for a stop-gap solution. I implore the County Board to seriously consider the past operating record of the landfill, and if it is to approve the expansion, modify the proposal to protect Round Lake communities and Mundelein from being literally "dumped on."

Charlene Beyer, mayor
Round Lake Park

Job opportunities

Editor:

I am a 20 year Lake County resident and small business owner of a temporary service in Round Lake.

During the last four years at least 40 of my employees have had job assignments at W.W. Grainger, Inc. in their offices in Skokie and Lincolnshire. Most of my employees are residents of Lake County. The majority of my employees reside in Round Lake (15 employees) and nearby towns.

I believe that the Grainger move to Lake County will create more jobs for the local area residents, both on a temporary and full-time basis. This is good news for the residents of Lake County and also for small business owners who benefit from the additional sales dollars generated by the employment of Lake County residents.

Lenwood Kennedy's house burned nearly 10 years ago. That unhappy experience sent him on an odyssey through municipal government, the legal system and lawyers that has left him frustrated and embittered.

"I just try to get along. I'm retired and disabled, and I live on Social Security. I'm getting pushed around and I don't like it. In short, I'm a victim of discrimination," exclaims Kennedy matter-of-factly.

Kennedy is so nettled that he ran a want ad seeking a "good and honest lawyer that would take a civil law suit." The ad netted him four or five responses, including this reporter, but no representation.

"I think I have a real good case," remarked Lenwood in slow, measured tones.

After he repaired the house, Kennedy said authorities in Round Lake Beach, where he has resided for 12 years, accused him of tampering with the water service and violating ordinances by putting bedrooms in the basement for his children.

Lenwood said he settled with the village over the water rhubarb for a whopping $4,078 and now he would like to put an addition on the house for two bedrooms. Only building officials won't issue a permit.

"They won't even talk to me. I'd say that's discrimination."

Kennedy is going to continue his quest for legal representation. He's not taking the municipal rebuff lightly. "The kids have to sleep somewhere."

telephone surveys, but I agreed because since the advent of the Grainger issue I have become very interested in local politics. After a few general questions, the interviewer became much more specific, actually naming W.W. Grainger in several questions.

Unfortunately, the questions were very favorably biased toward Grainger, citing assumptions, not facts, that Grainger had used in their advertising campaign and at County Board meetings. These assumptions about jobs, tax revenue, etc. have been disputed and are among the reasons the residents have fought this development in the first place. The survey was clearly unfair to ing W.W. Grainger, Inc.'s Conservation Development proposal to the Lake County Board. But, misstatements of fact, inconsistencies and unfounded charges relative to Grainger's proposed gift of 257 acres to the Lake County Forest Preserve should not be left on the record unchallenged.

CASS members claim that Grainger's proposed 257 acre gift to the Lake County Forest Preserve has no economic value, because the land could not be developed for any purpose due to the presence of wetlands and mature forests on the property. This is simply not true. Under current Lake County ordinances between 67 and 154 homesites could be developed on the 257 acres, depending on whether the property is zoned countryside or estate. The property has a conservative market value of at least $8 million.

These same CASS members have resorted to the inconsistent, but nonetheless blatant, accusation that by proposing the gift of 257 acres to the Lake County Forest Preserve, Grainger is attempting to "bribe" the members of the Lake County Board. Those who make this charge know full well that there is nothing at all unusual about a gift of land in connection with a development.

The Lake County Framework Plan encourages developers to donate a portion of their property for open space. In the county's 1992 Land Use Attitude survey, a majority of Lake County residents said that requiring developers to set aside land was their top choice for preserving open space. Public policy throughout the United States strongly supports gifts of land as part of development proposals.

By making these charges, CASS members have attacked the integrity of Grainger and every Lake County Board member. They have raised a specter of underhanded dealing that is repugnant to the management, employees, customers, suppliers and shareholders of W.W. Grainger, Inc.

It is my fervent hope that as we get closer to a vote on our plan by the County Board, CASS and its responsible members will distance themselves from this name calling which has no place in a responsible discussion of public issues.

I do not believe Grainger is a complicated issue. The so-called benefits Grainger offers to the county are questionable at best and at a terrible cost in precedent. ## PARTY LINES

Netsch serious about Lake County prospects

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

Lake County Democrats are down-right giddy over the fact that Comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch dropped a hint that she might be back for the County Fair after two Independence Day parade appearances hereabouts.

County Democratic Chairman Terry Link called success in Lake County "crucial" (his very words) for defeating Gov. Jim Edgar in November.

Netsch chose safe territory in Demo strongholds of Waukegan and Highland Park for her first appearances north of Lake-Cook Rd.

Both Democrats and Republicans have noticed differences in campaign styles between Netsch and U.S. Sen. Carol Moseley-Braun. Party Lines tip: The Democrats much prefer the way Netsch campaigns.

Party champ—Friends are kidding Willard Helander about "never seeing a party she didn't like."

For the second time in less than a month, a big Helander for County Clerk shindig is being tossed. The next party will be Tuesday, July 19, at Country Squire,

Sally Coffelt

Backers of Helander are called "Willard's Winning Team." A ladies only committee is in charge: Sally Coffelt, Judy Fojtik, Valery Gallagher, Venita McConnell, Pam Naslund, Cindy Pagan, Wendy Tepper and Ginny Wood.

Waiting, watching—Putting together a hard-hitting campaign team and preparing issues papers, Democrat Rich Jablonski is waiting for summer's heat to recede before going on the attack against Sheriff Clint Grinnell.

Party lines also is wondering if some of the unhappiness Jablonski left behind in Round Lake Beach has something to do with his absence from the public scene? Jablonski's successor, Ed Sindles, is piling up plaudits for reorganizing the Beach department into a smoothly functioning, hard-hitting law enforcement agency.

Bug out—Libertyville businessman and political activist Jack Martin has no sympathy for the animal rights activists who tried to throw a wrench into the annual Wauconda Rodeo last weekend.

"The animal rights activists would serve themselves and all of us if they would focus their efforts on the crimes and abuse of human beings in their communities," Martin stated.

Martin reported Jack Martin that the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Assn. has more than 60 rules and regulations covering the humane treatment of livestock.

Bob boom—Without hesitation, State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) has come out for State Rep. Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa) to fill the impending vacancy on the Republican ballot for lieutenant governor.

Churchill, who long has coveted state ticket recognition, isn't discouraging friends and backers from following Geo's lead. The Lake County native, No. 2 in the GOP House leadership, is as well qualified as anyone mentioned so far.

Churchill's only shortcoming among some media pundits is that he's a white male. The communication brainstormers think Gov. Edgar's running mate should be a woman or minority. Only thing wrong with this thinking is that if voters want a female candidate they can vote Democratic. Edgar's too smart to fall in this trap.

Cash bash for Gash—Citizens for Lauren Beth Gash will host a fundraiser at Ravinia, Wednesday, July 27, beginning at 6:45 p.m. Stars for the evening performance will be Peter, Paul and Mary. The Highland Park Democrat is running for a second term in the House of Representatives. Dial 708-266-VOTE for tickets.

Sign clarification—Republican County Clerk candidate Willard Helander pointed out that an article published July 1 about her and her Democrat opponent Kathy Ryg may have been unclear. Ryg challenged Helander to place campaign signs only on private property. Helander later told Party Lines that although she does not intend to litter the landscape, she will use signs at village intersections but "only in areas where it is legal and where it is appropriate."

Need storage—With tallies from the first ever fundraising auction still not added up, Fox Lake Mayor Ken Hamsher is already thinking about next year's event. Trustee Jim Thillen said he has had a "couple of comments from people" who want to donate to the 1995 event, but don't want to hang onto items until then. Things would be easier "if we had some place to store them," Thillen told the mayor. "How about your house?" Hamsher quipped.

Mitigation plan faulty

Editor:
A regional wetland mitigation bank is proposed for the Des Plaines River Wetland Restoration Project site. Mitigation allows developers to fill a wetland of low quality, generally five acres or less, and pay $30,000 an acre (per a M.O.A., Memorandum Of Agreement, presented to the Army Corps Of Engineers by Don Hey and Assoc. for Wetlands Research Inc.) to enhance the mitigation site. A developer will pay $150,000 to fill a five acre wetland and assuming 80,000 sq. ft. lots can build five homes an acre. At $150,000 a home he has profited $600,000 an acre. A nice incentive to fill a wetland, rather than restore it.

Under the Lake County Stormwater Management Ordinance, the developer would meet stormwater storage requirements. The cumulative effect of filling in five acre wetlands all over the county will create much flooding due to stormwater runoff to low areas as well as erosion.

In the M.O.A. of the Des Plaines River Wetland Restoration site, creation of wetlands in upland areas is proposed. Much of the buffer area to the wetlands will be lost, impacting water quality and wildlife habitat. And under the M.O.A., a pro-special interest Lake County Forest Preserve Board will have control over participants to the mitigation bank.

The whole concept of this Regional Wetland Mitigation Bank is not to the best interest of the Des Plaines River Wetland Restoration Project, flood and erosion control and the taxpayer.

Bea Brown

Victory volunteer wins citizen's award

Victory Memorial Hospital announced that volunteer Bea Brown has received the Lake County Medical Society's 1994 Annual Citizen's Award.

The award is presented each year to honor Lake County citizens who have made substantial contributions to the health and well-being of members of the community through their work of volunteer activities.

Dr. Mohammed Siddique, president of the Lake County Medical Society, submitted Brown's name for the extensive volunteer services she provides at Victory Memorial Hospital. Brown has been a Victory volunteer since November, 1970, and has contributed nearly 5,600 hours of service.

Over the years she has worked in a number of different areas including admitting, outpatient, and nuclear medicine. She currently volunteers in the mail unit where she has also served as unit chairperson. Brown turned 91 this year and resides in Waukegan.

Many suffer debilitating effects of Schizophrenia

The world can be a pretty scary place for some people.

"The first time I heard those angry voices (in my mind), I was a teenager. I didn't know what was happening to me. I felt like I was possessed and my mind was infected by demonic spirits..." recalls Lori of her personal experiences with schizophrenia, which began when she was 15 years old.

Schizophrenia is a mental illness that affects one of every 100 Americans, yet very few people know anything about the disease.

"Simply put, schizophrenia is a thought disorder that results in a distorted or skewed view of reality," says Linda Hale, RN, CS, patient care director at Victory Memorial Hospital's Mental Health Department.

The disease affects people of all ages, from young children to older adults. The largest number of reported cases of schizophrenia, however, are in people under the age of 25.

Research indicates that men between the ages of 20 and 30 are more susceptible to the disease, while it affects women in greater numbers during pregnancy, childbirth and the menopausal years.

Researchers have yet to identify a single cause for this debilitating disease. However, they have identified a number of factors which may contribute to schizophrenia. These include: family history, chemical imbalances in the brain, infectious diseases and birth defects.

It has been identified that babies born during the early winter and early springs months have a greater tendency for schizophrenia in the years to come. Some researchers believe this is due to the fetus' exposure to the influenza virus.

Many people, like Lori, are confused and frightened by their illness. They may spend years trying to hide their illness from others. Still, over 600,000 people receive treatment for schizophrenia each year.

"While not everyone experiences successful results from treatment, people whose illness includes hallucinations and delusions have shown improvement with the aid of medication, therapy and support groups," says Hale.

It can be difficult for patients and their families to cope with schizophrenia. Resources are available for treatment and support. For further information, call Victory's Mental Health Department at 360-4073.

Victory also has a 24-hour crisis line staffed with mental health professionals to provide support and assistance in an emergency. To call the mental health crisis line, call 260-4082.

Eight reasons older adults eat poorly

As Americans age, they face health threats from many areas. One often overlooked health threat is malnutrition. The fact is many older adults are not eating well, and this puts their health at risk.

"There are many factors that enter into healthy eating habits and diets," says Sue Politakis, chief dietitian at Victory Memorial Hospital. "When seniors don't eat properly, they can lack essential vitamins and nutrients, as well as the necessary fuel to energize the body. It is important that they have good nutrition because a person's immune system is affected dramatically by their nutritional status."

Among the factors leading to poor nutrition in older adults are: depression; medications which reduce appetite and/or change the taste or smell sensations people experience; problems with teeth, gums and dentures; cost of groceries; lack of social interaction which reduces the pleasure of eating; difficulty in feeding themselves because of arthritis and other handicaps; inability to travel to the grocery store and carry groceries home and boredom with cooking and eating alone.

"Family and friends can often help older adults to safeguard their health by insuring that they eat well. Sometimes the interest shown in a person's eating habits is all the incentive someone needs to make them want to eat three good meals a day," says Politakis.

Some suggestions for helping older adults remain well nourished include talking to the physician to see if lack of eating has a medical or medicinal cause. Often, the doctor can change medications to reduce appetite-affecting side effects. You should also be aware of a person's weight and any changes in it. A 10 percent loss of body weight is often a signal that a person is not eating normally.

Getting seniors involved in a physical activity is also critical in helping to maintain muscle mass and it helps stimulate their appetites.

"Often, seniors have limited physical activity due to arthritis, joint pain or loneliness," says Politakis. "Unfortunately, muscles that don't get used begin to shrink making that person feel weaker, thus further weakening him or her and reducing the appetite."

Politakis stressed that nay activity, as simple as walking or swimming, is helpful. Weight training designed for older adults is also a good activity. If walking is not appropriate, due to physical limitations, she suggest contacting the park district, YMCA, and area senior centers to find senior exercise groups. The leaders of senior groups are trained to adequately judge a person's abilities and can tailor activities for individuals.

In some instances, a more structured approach may be required to insure an older adult eats nutritious meals. You can arrange for "Meals on Wheels" through Catholic Charities of Lake County (249-3500). For a small charge, volunteers deliver a hot noon meal to the home. And the Victory Adult Day Center (360-9860) provides nutritionally balanced noon meals and healthy snacks to its clients in addition to providing structured activities and socialization opportunities.

Shier receives YWCA Women of Achievement Award

Carol Shier, business process re-engineering manager at Midwestern Regional Medical Center, Zion, received a Women of Achievement Award for Business during the YWCA of Northeastern Illinois' 16th annual awards and benefit program on Wednesday, June 15.

Shier is responsible for the successful implementation of two major projects which have revolutionized the process of care management and care giving at the 95-bed acute care, cancer specialty hospital.

"As a champion of empowerment, Shier has facilitated grassroots teams of employees in making changes in key business processes and in accepting authority and responsibility," says Jerry Dykstra, director of quality services. "Her recent accomplishments include the development of an admitting team using the principles of continuous improvement and implementing a concept of bedside admitting."

A resident of Johnsburg, Shier received a bachelor's degree in business administration from Northwestern University. She is chair of the committee for bylaws and constitution of the Hospital Administrative Management Association.

Two additional Midwestern staff members were nominated for a Women of Achievement Award. Sandra Grasser, director of volunteer services and patient advocate, and Carmelita Mangubat, RN, director of inpatient nursing services.

"Midwestern Regional Medical Center is pleased to be an employer where staff members excel and earn recognition from their peers," says Donald L. Maloney, II, president and CEO. "We are all very proud of Ms. Shier's recognition, and equally pleased with the nomination deservedly earned by Ms. Grasser and Ms. Mangubat."

Lambs Farm constructs retirement center

As the population ages, many baby boomers are looking ahead to their retirements. With the groundbreaking of a sixteen bed residence at Lambs Farm, the mentally disabled men and women who make their home at The Lambs can also anticipate their senior years with pleasure.

The new Benjamin B. Green-Field Geriatric and Retirement Center will be complemented with a comprehensive program of both vocational and non-vocational day activities and social services for the continued physical and mental health of Lambs men and women who are reaching retirement age. Currently, with 10 percent of residents aged 50 and over—and that percentage to rise significantly in the next five years—the need for a facility such as this is a logical and important next step in The Lambs 33 year evolution.

"The reason most people are referred to The Lambs is that they were attracted by our overall program and the community we have established here. Parents want this to be their children's home. Now, thanks to the Green-Field Foundation, our men and women can remain here with the same level and quality of care they have come to enjoy at The Lambs," said Gerald Y. Friedman, executive director of The Lambs.

The Green-Field Center is named for the facility's major contributor, the Benjamin B. Green-Field Foundation, whose trustees pledged $400,000 in the form of a challenge grant. The Lambs must raise an equal amount from the community, foundations and businesses. Dan Jarke, a Green-Field Foundation trustee noted, "When The Lambs came to us with this project, the idea was just perfect for what we wanted to do. Ben [Green-Field] made his money primarily in the Chicago area, so we wanted to be sure to help people in this area."

The new facility, scheduled to open in June of 1995, will be one of the first facilities of its kind in the midwest. Like so many other aspects of The Lambs, it will be a model for mental health organizations throughout the nation.

Without a retirement facility, men and women who have lived their working lives at Lambs Farm would have had to return to their families or reside in nursing homes, away from the friends and social supports that they enjoyed for several decades.

The Lambs, founded in 1961 as an alternative to traditional vocational training, is located on a 63-acre site in Libertyville known as Lambs Farm. Nearly 200 mentally disabled adults are employed through The Lambs many programs or businesses, ranging from the Country Inn Restaurant and Ice Cream Parlor to the Pet Shop and Petting Zoo. Today more than 350,000 visitors take part in its many special events and festivals.

Victory understands matters of the heart.

According to a recent study, people in the surrounding communities prefer Victory Memorial for cardiac care and services. And, there are good reasons why.

Chest pains and other symptoms of heart problems often begin suddenly. When they do, board-certified emergency physicians and the cardiac team at Victory take the kind of immediate action that may make the life-saving difference.

Victory offers cardiac patients a broad range of multi-disciplinary diagnostic and support services. Just one example is Victory's Cardiac Catheterization lab. Here, board certified cardiologists from Victory's medical staff and specialists from the famous Heart Center at St. Luke's Hospital in Milwaukee perform a variety of sophisticated diagnostic procedures.

Victory wants you to get well and stay well. From rehabilitation, which includes exercise and nutrition counseling, to follow up testing, Victory Memorial offers you a lifetime of cardiac care and services.

For a free cardiac screening card and a brochure on "How To Survive a Heart Attack", call 1-800-THE CHOICE (843-2464).

A Total Quality Management Organization

Victory's Wenrich is 'woman of achievement'

Victory Memorial Hospital announced that Jackie Wenrich was presented with a 'Women of Achievement' award during the YWCA of Northeastern Illinois, Lake and McHenry Counties' 16th annual awards benefit held at the Marriot's Lincolnshire Resort.

Wenrich is a registered nurse and director of the post anesthesia care unit (PACU) and acute pain service. She was honored for her professional accomplishments with both Victory Memorial and outside organizations.

As director of the PACU and acute pain service, Wenrich provides administrative supervision, while encouraging professional education for her staff, including national certification for post anesthesia nurses and advanced cardiac life support certification. She has also developed criteria for advancement of her staff in Victory Memorial's 'Clinical Ladders' program and has promoted shared governance and a quality council in the post anesthesia unit.

Wenrich served as a guest lecturer at the 1994 National Conference for Pain Management Nurses.

Shared meals are recipe for togetherness

Families looking for a way to strengthen ties and increase happiness should dine together more often, a new study reports. According to the Kraft Cheese Family Study, American families who share meals together are happier in many aspects of life than those who don't.

The study surveyed nearly 2,000 people about their values and attitudes toward a number of lifestyle issues including relationships, priorities, personal happiness and quality of life as well as eating habits. The extensive study findings provide a "snapshot" of American families today and the important issues affecting them.

"It's not surprising that the families who share more food experiences together are the happiest," said Robyn Flipse, M.S., R.D. "Mealtime provides families with an excellent opportunity to communicate with each other and update family members on what is happening in each other's lives. It's also a great time to coach family members about nutrition and encourage better eating habits."

The survey identified pizza as the number one food for bringing people together. Pizza was also listed with grilled cheese sandwiches as the top two comfort foods.

"Serving meals made with favorite ingredients is a sure-fire way to bring the family to the table for a nutritious and nurturing occasion," said Flipse.

Findings from the Kraft Cheese Family Study also categorized those responding into five distinct lifestyle segments. The largest group—"Connectors" (32 percent of households)—believes most strongly that meals play an important role in creating quality family time. Not only do "Connectors" report that a good meal can be the catalyst for togetherness, they eat together more often than any other group. In addition to "Connectors," the other family segments are:

- "Preservers" (30 percent)—This very disciplined and orderly group believes in living "according to plan" and feels strongly about eating three square meals a day.

- "Strivers" (22 percent)—This group, with a high proportion of younger families and single male-headed households, feels disconnected from their families. In addition, whether married or single, the "Strivers" feel that their families provide them with little emotional support.

- "No-Timers" (12 percent)—This group has a significant interest in the foods their kids eat and aspire toward the idea of family togetherness, even if they are not able to attain it. "No-Timers" are burdened by the responsibility of caring for a family with limited resources. They recognize the value of mealtime for creating family togetherness but lack time, money and support to live up to that ideal.

- "Strugglers" (four percent)—This small group says the family is not their source of joy and feels no connection to neighbors or their community. Overall, they are struggling with all aspects of their lives.

The Kraft Cheese Family Study also found that 85 percent of Americans report that they are proud of their family and 59 percent list family members as their best friends. In addition, despite the burdens facing American families today, the majority report their families to be loving (71 percent), supportive (70 percent) and happy (66 percent).

The Kraft Cheese Family Study was a self-administered mail questionnaire conducted in July, 1993 reaching a nationally representative sample of 1,950 consumers. The survey was administered by National Family Opinion, Inc. and analyzed by Loran Marketing for Kraft USA.

American families — no matter what their size — who eat together more often tend to be happier than those who dine together less frequently.

Bill would pay seniors 'granny tax' grants

Senior citizens who have never received all their state grants in reimbursement for part of the 'granny taxes' they paid in their nursing home bills may finally get the money they are entitled to. The reimbursement would be possible in legislation sponsored by State Senator Adeline Geo-Karris (R-Zion).

"Because insufficient money was budgeted to pay these grants, a substantial number of senior citizens still have not received the money they should have for the fourth quarters of fiscal year 1992 and 1993," Geo-Karris said.

Geo-Karris said the legislation also gives authority to use some of their motor fuel tax revenues to develop and maintain bike routes on state and county highways. In addition, it provides that bike routes may be developed on private property, with the owner's consent for a minimum duration of 20 years.

The legislation, approved by the General Assembly, will be forwarded to the governor for consideration.

Birth defects: genetics may play a role

Having a baby is a happy time in most couples' lives. Pregnancy usually results in a healthy child. However, two to four percent of the children born in the United States are born with some type of defect. While all birth defects cannot be prevented, knowledge of the possibilities before pregnancy can help couples prepare for and plan their families.

The New Family Center of Victory Memorial Hospital in Waukegan invites anyone concerned about inherited birth defects and diseases to attend, "Genetic Awareness in Pregnancy." This special program will discuss inherited, family diseases; ethnic-related diseases; age factors affecting genetic risks; and environmental factors affecting genetic risks. Prenatal testing to identify birth defects before birth will also be discussed.

Guest speaker Elizabeth A. Leeth, M.S., will lead the program. She is an experienced genetic counselor at the Fetal Diagnostic Center in Evanston. This free community education seminar will be held from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m., Wednesday, July 20, in the Amphitheater at Victory Memorial Hospital, 1324 N. Sheridan Rd., Waukegan.

"Genetic Awareness" is recommended for couples who are currently planning a pregnancy or may already be expecting a child; families where one or both parents have a family history of genetic disorders, X-linked disease (a disease which affects males such as hemophilia), mental retardation, or birth defects such as congenital heart disease or spina bifida; families in which one or both parents carry a gene for a recessive gene disorder.

To register for this important educational program, call 1-800-THE CHOICE (1800-843-2464) between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

HOME OF THE MONTH

Former bar makes beautiful contemporary apartment

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

A business that has been idle for the past four years is finding new life as an unique one-man apartment that features a three-way view of Fox Lake. Long-time residents or boaters in Fox Lake will remember the Sailor's Motel. It later became the Sea Breeze Inn after the building burned down and was rebuilt in 1985.

The bar did not fair so well because of increased operating costs. The business was in and out of operation until 1988, when it went out for good.

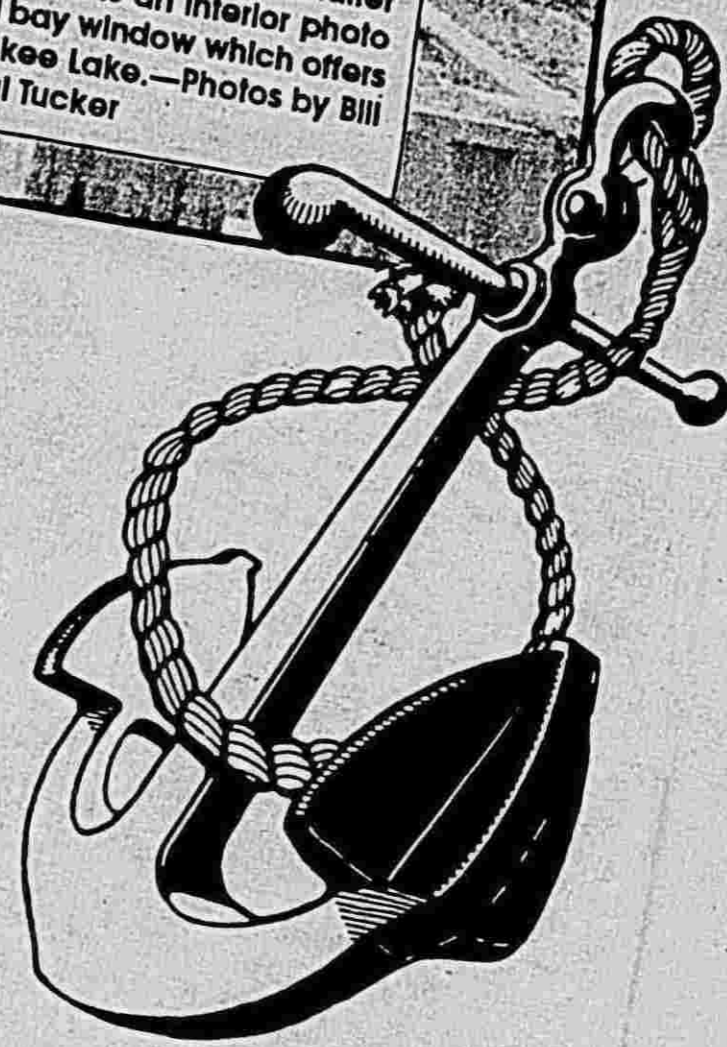

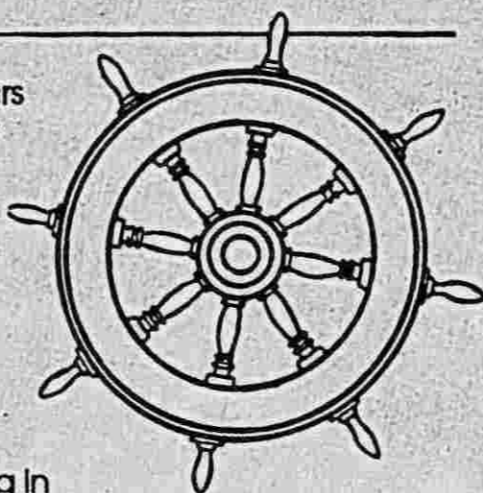

Bob Heaney purchased the cement block building in 1992 and has been transforming it ever since.

Heaney may be best known for Private Affairs, on Long Lake, which he has since leased to Jerry's Parkway, and his 60,000 square-foot facility in Richmond, called Heaney's Inside RV Storage. Heaney's full attention today is devoted to the remodeling his new project.

When Heaney bought the place two years ago, the upstairs, which housed the bar, was in the same condition it had been the day it closed.

"I could have dusted everything off and opened up the next day," he said.

"The heat and the water had remained on because of the two apartments downstairs."

Heaney sold all the kitchen equipment for $25,000, after saving what he needed for his restaurant business. He then petitioned the village board to ask for rezoning from a commercial business to multi-family residential. The permission was granted and the Heaney remodeling tornado was unleashed.

The first thing he did was tear out the huge stone fireplace that centered on the west wall toward the Pistakee Lake. In its place he installed a 12 foot wide by 6 foot tall peaked bay window to usher in the sunsets over the waters. To either side are sliding glass doors onto the deck overlooking the shoreline.

He then took the existing bar and moved it to the west wall, centering it under the bay window.

The bulkhead that hung over the bar remained in its place, complete with brass plated port holes. Heaney built a five-foot partition to follow the contour of the bulkhead, then placed his bedroom inside it. The gap between the wall and the bulk head follows the open theme he has created throughout the 2,300 square-foot apartment.

The routing of sound system was left intact. Heaney hooked up new components and now has huge speakers suspended from the ceiling over what was the dance floor. He has plans to pipe surround sound from his 61" big screen television through the sound system as well.

With the work he has done so far, Heaney estimates he is about 90% complete. He is still remodeling the commercial kitchen, and will be landscaping and decking the front of the property, which faces the lake. On the street side, he is in the process of building a six-car garage with room to spare. The bar's parking lot had capacity for thirty cars.

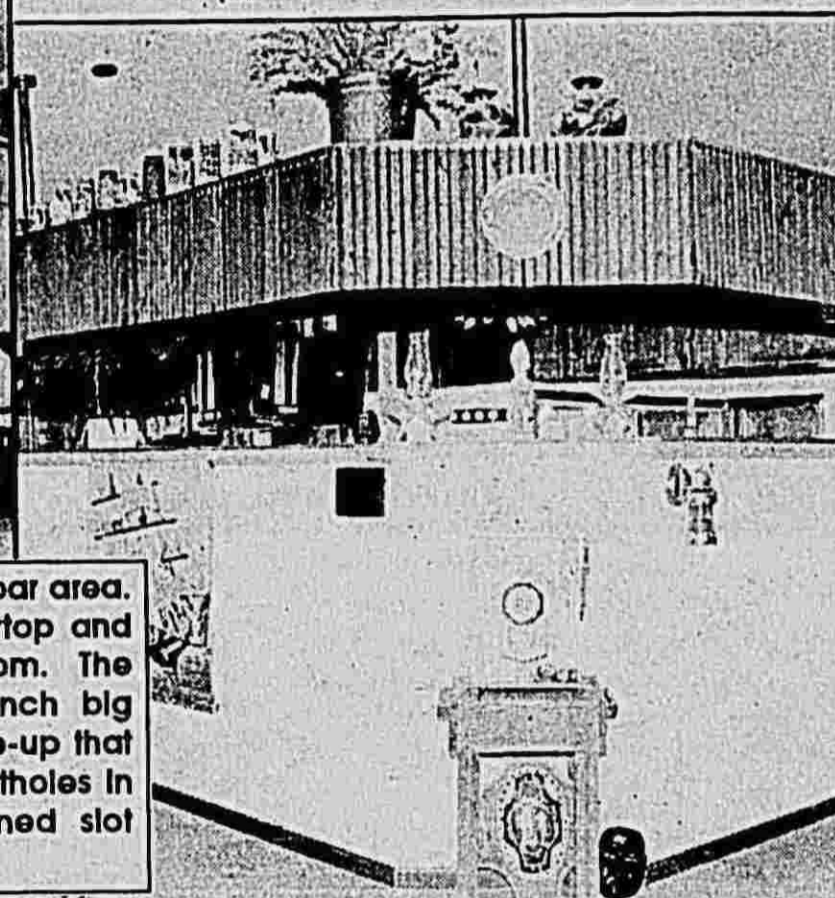

Even with all the fine work Heaney has done so far, he does admit he has some limitations. The finishing touches still need to be placed on the bachelor pad.

"I need an interior decorator to come in and unify the place with color and finishing," he said.

Plans for the finishing touches also include a 150-gallon fish tank, a dart game and a pool table.

This is an interior view of the former bar area. Owner Bob Heaney moved the bartop and built a partition to house his bedroom. The open living room features a 61-inch big screen television. At right is a close-up that shows more detail, such as the portholes in the bulkhead and the old-fashioned slot machine.

Use colors to create mood, variety of sensations

Color psych

Colors influence mood and may be used to create a variety of sensations. Your color choices also say a lot about your personality. Let's look at a few examples.

Have you ever thought about why hospital operating rooms and the uniforms worn in them by doctors and nurses are "scrub blue"? This tone of blue-green is known to be relaxing and may alleviate some of the patient's operation room jitters. The color blue has long been associated with serenity, but for some people who tend to be depressive, blue may depress them even further! If you use blue in your decor, it means that you are a fairly relaxed person—or at least you wish to be.

Red is known for its stimulating effect. It indicates power and strength. Although red, a primary color, is often used in children's rooms, too much of it may overstimulate a youngster—so use it sparingly and in combination with other colors. Various shades, tints and tones of red may be used without as much stimulation. Burgundy and rose are two colors that come to mind.

If you want your guests to eat heartily, use orange and its family of related colors in your dining room! It is known to increase the appetite.

Although purple is not a color you see a lot in interior design, it is known as a spiritual color and as the color of royalty. In its pure saturated form it is used primarily as an accent color. Combined with grey and tinted with white, it becomes a neutral. Eggplant, one of today's popular colors, is a shade of purple that appears in paints, wallcoverings and fabrics.

Green is Mother Nature's favorite color, and if green is your preference, it indicates that you have an earthy, natural personality. Used as the primary color in a decor, it brings the outdoors in, and it is the color that is used the most in combination with others. Just look at any floral in fabric or wallcoverings, and you are sure to see green.

Although this article has barely touched on the topic, I hope you are interested enough to take a good look at your own color preferences. You may discover something about yourself!

That special touch...formal style

How do you demonstrate that special touch in your home? What does it mean? Often it means something different to each individual, since everyone has their own unique style. But it is the details added to an ordinary decor that make it truly memorable.

In a formal home, a special touch might mean those special accoutrements which demonstrate that the homeowner really put a lot of thought into the home—things like tassels and fringe on window treatments. Along the edges of drapery, or the bottom of a top treatment, fringe can turn a hum treatment into a spectacular one.

The longer the fringe, the more dramatic the statement—just be sure the fringe and fabric complement each other. Rayon fringes work well with formal fabrics like damasks and moires, while cotton fringes are good accompaniments for toiles and tea-stained cotton patterns.

The type of fringe is also important to consider. Brush fringe is slightly less formal than tassel fringe. Tassels and cord- ing are also good as an accessory to wall art. The cord- ing is made to appear, as if it is holding up a piece of art.—by MARY LEBEN

Outdoor decorating key to inviting backyards

After building a deck to transform a backyard into an outdoor living room, many backyard builders will gaze at their handiwork and come to the same conclusion: Something's missing.

The answer may be color. Decorating with color serves the same purpose outdoors as it does in interior decorating: It unifies a space and makes it look inviting.

Consider these steps for decorating your deck:

1. Establish a color scheme. When selecting your exterior color scheme, consider how your deck will look against your house. If possible, use shades of the colors of your house and trim paint. The unified colors will blend your deck in with your house and make it look like a planned addition.

If your paint colors are not in the earth tones use for stains, then choose neutral colors like driftwood gray or natural tones like cedar or redwood and pick up your house paint colors with spray paints on furnishings.

Using colored stains on large portions of your deck will establish your color scheme. Stain the decking a single color or create a pattern. Or just stain your handrails, spindles, balusters or lattice. Look for semi-transparent stains that contain a water repellent and wood preservative to protect your deck from water, ultraviolet light, mold, mildew, rot and decay. If you prefer the look of natural wood, protect it with a clear water repellent wood preservative which protects wood while preserving its natural color.

2. Paint existing furnishings to match. Before you run out and buy new outdoor furniture, take an inventory of what you already own. Consider wood and metal furniture and accessories, even if they weren't originally meant to go outside.

The pieces needn't match; a coat of paint easily can bring them all together. Turn four unmatched metal chairs and a table into a dining set by painting them in your accent color. Or use a flat black as the backdrop for a stencil pattern of all three colors in your scheme. You also can use spray paints to camouflage storage units to blend into the background. Use rust-inhibitive spray paints to protect metal furniture.

3. Consider ceramic tile. Another way to bring color into outdoor decorating is to use ceramic tile and colored grouts. Lay tile over exterior wood or an exterior cement board and then seal with a water repellent sealer.

4. Flowering plants: Potted flowering plants work on you deck just as they do in your living room to give it a "lived-in" look. Use them to pick up accent colors and to liven up seating areas.

You can have a lot of fun decorating your deck as if it was your living room, but remember that anything you put out there—including the decking—has to withstand wind, rain and sun. You'll have to protect it if it's going to last more than one season.

There is a wide variety of colors available in wood preservative stains and rust-preventive spray paints to give you a lot of options for creating a customized color scheme for your backyard. But don't go overboard. Remember the success of exterior decorating hinges on the tasteful use of color.

Does your family have a fire escape plan?

A fire breaks out in a home or apartment every 45 seconds—killing about 4,500 people every year and injuring more than 20,000 others.

That's why it is important to develop and practice a family fire-escape plan.

A family escape plan consists of:

- Sketching the layout of each floor, including windows, doors and stairways.
- Working out two escape routes, if possible, for each room. Mark them clearly on the sketch, and make sure there are no obstructions blocking the routes. Make sure every family member is familiar with the routes.

• Assigning a family member to help the elderly or very young escape.

• Designating a place outside the home for everyone to meet in case of fire. (Once outside, count heads, stay together, and don't go back inside for personal belongings.)

Home ownership may be closer than you think

If you believe the path to home ownership is long and treacherous, we have news for you! It's not! At our bank, we offer a mortgage program that bridges the gap between you and the home you've always wanted!

Through the Community Homebuyers Program, buyers can take advantage of the following:

- Low down payment requirements - minimizing the amount of cash you'll need to purchase a home.
- Easy qualification - added flexibility which increases the "buying power" of your income.

■ Affordable monthly loan payments - reasonable rates keep your monthly mortgage obligation low ... and affordable. Don't put off your homebuying plans any longer. Let us show you how the Community Homebuyers Program can cut your costs ... and put you a whole lot closer to owning the home of your dreams.

Brick, stone foretell homes' 'luxury' quotient

You may not be able to tell a book by its cover, but the variety and quality of materials used on a home's facade can reveal quite a bit about the developer, the buyer and the community overall.

"The personality of the home is first seen in its facade," said Sally Downs Henning, sales manager at The Fairways at Rivershire, a community of 107 luxury single-family homes created by Baxter Homes Corp. in Lincolnshire.

"In the same way that brick often encompasses and characterizes traditional-style homes, the use of textured materials, such as fieldstone, rough-hewn cedar and stucco, creates an image of 'casual luxury' before you ever reach the front door," added John McFarland, Baxter Homes' vice president of development.

There are eight distinctive floor plans offered at The Fairways at Rivershire, all available in both two- and three-bedroom-plus-den configurations, ranging in size from 2,356 to 3,450 square feet. The homes are priced from $349,500 to $429,500 (prices subject to change without notice). Each plan is available with a variety of exterior elevations.

Depending upon the exterior chosen, a variety of materials is used to achieve the "casual" effect. Brick or fieldstone quoins (offset stone blocks used at corners) may be added, and Tudor-style gables of stucco and cedar may be a part of the plan. Copper awnings may be used to top window bays, and its weathering will continue to match the homes' exterior theme.

"Brick still is a major ingredient in most of the elevations, but that is mainly because of its popularity among home buyers," said Henning. In the Fairways home it is also used to form entryway arches, and blends well with the paver stones that create the driveways for each grouping of homes.

Cypress Point model

Fieldstone is used extensively in the Fairways' homes because of the combination of its rough surface, its durability and low maintenance requirements, said McFarland. The same is true of cedar and stucco, he said.

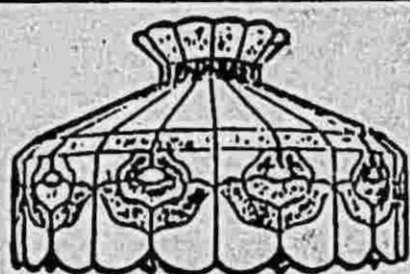

It is important, Henning said, that the exteriors consist of—or at least appear as—natural materials.

"The streetlights throughout the community are fashioned in a turn-of-the-century design, and the homes evoke the same era," she explained. "The materials used, then, as well as the style, must stay true to that look."

Build a coffee table for outdoors, indoors

An Adirondack-style coffee table, made from durable western softwood lumber, is equally at home on the patio or in the playroom. And it's surprisingly easy to build. All you need are four 8-foot lengths of 1x4 lumber, a saw, drill and a hammer to complete the project.

The table is 28 inches long by 18 1/2 inches wide and stands 15 1/2 inches high.

To make the legs, you'll need four lengths of 1x4, each 25 inches long. (The legs and top support may be trimmed to 3 inches wide). Cross the legs picnic-table style, then adjust the "X" until it measures 18 1/2 inches across, point to point, and 15 inches high (See Detail A). Trim the legs so the top and bottom are parallel, as shown. Predrill holes and fasten the legs together with a 1/4 inch carriage bolt, using nuts and washers at the center of the "X". All fasteners should be rust resistant if the table is to be used outside.

Cut two 18 1/2 inch lengths of 1x4 for the top support. Round the corners on one edge, then attach the support to the outside of the legs with two screws in each leg.

For the top you'll need five lengths of 1x4, 28 inches long. If desired, the ends of the boards can be rounded by cutting off a small triangle of wood from each corner. Smooth the edges with a rasp sandpaper.

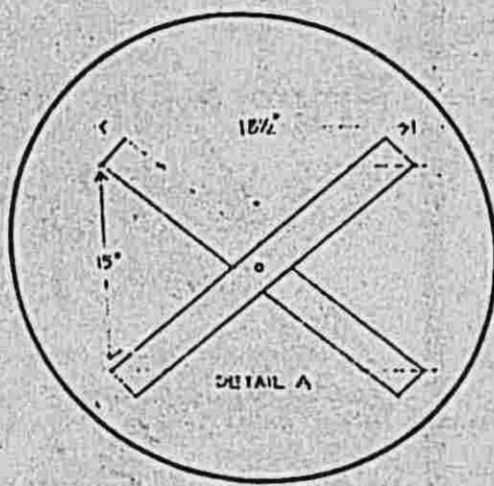

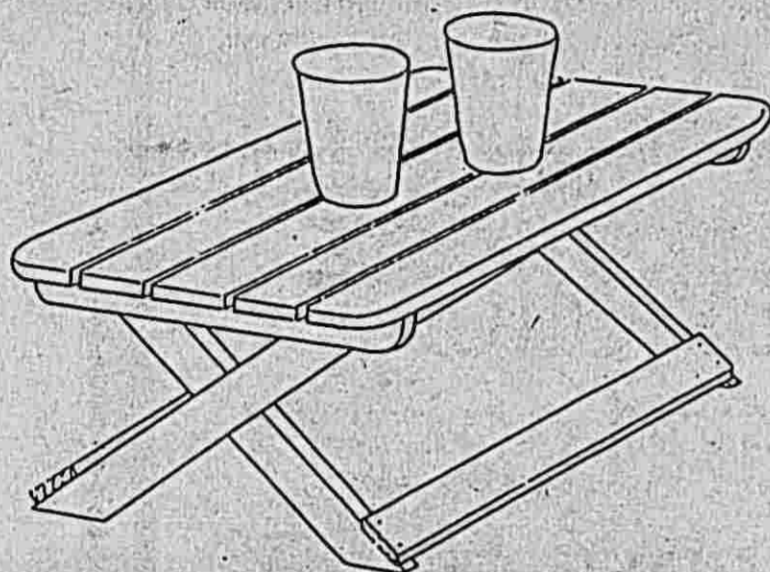

Space the legs 20 inches apart, then glue and nail the top in place, allowing 1/4 inch between boards. The top will extend beyond the legs by four inches at each end. Use three 1 1/4 inch finishing nails at each joint. (For exterior use, fasten with rust-resistant casing nails). Countersink the nails and fill with putty.

Make sure the legs are parallel and plumb, then measure the distance between the outside of the legs. (It should be 20 inches). Cut two 1x4 cross braces to that length and nail to both sides of the legs, as shown. The 1x4 braces may be trimmed to 3 inches wide.

If you like the Adirondack look, you'll want to finish the table in white enamel.

Or you can let the natural beauty of the wood show through with a clear protective finish. (For exterior, select a water-repellent product).

For a free list of publications featuring other home projects and plans for the do-it-yourselfer, write to Western Wood Products Association, Yeon Building, 522 SW 5th Ave., Portland, OR 97204-2122.

Follow these helpful tips for a quick home sale

When selling your home, there are a number of steps you can take to accomplish that goal more quickly.

- First Impressions are lasting. The front door should be fresh and clean, and the yard should be neat and cleared of any toys or debris.

- Make certain that your home is clean and appealing. If the walls look dingy, paint or re-paper them.

- Fix any dripping faucets. They discolor sinks and add to your plumbing repair bills.

- Fix any loose knobs, sticking doors, windows and drawers. Failure to do so may be interpreted as a sign of neglect.

- Bathrooms are a selling point: Make certain that everything is shining.

- Make certain the kitchen and all appliances are spotless.

- Cluttered rooms look smaller than they are; remove excess furniture.

- Closets and storage areas can look larger by disposing of items you don't need and storing the rest neatly.

- If paint on the exterior trim is peeling, it's time to get out the paint brush.

Once you get everything in shape, here are some additional points for showing your home:

- Before the prospective buyer arrives, create a cheerful atmosphere by opening drapes and curtains.

- Avoid having too many people present. Potential buyers may feel like intruders and hurry through.

- Unless pets are quiet, peaceful and well-behaved, get them out of the way.

- Silence is golden. Too much talking on your part can only distract from the buyer's inspection of your home.

- Never apologize for the appearance of your home.

- It's a good idea to stay in the background—better yet, get out of the house. Your realtor is trained to sell your house, is familiar with the buyer's needs and can point out the significant features of your home.

'Spirit of Mundelein' is on top of the world

RHONDA VINZANT

Editor In Chief

They are the fastest and they're on top of the world.

In a student-built airplane dubbed "The Spirit of Mundelein," Mundelein High School aviation teacher Jim Jackson and Tom Zentz, Mundelein High School graduate class of '88, set the world record in the city to city category for speed over a recognized course when they arrived in Inuvik, Ala., July 9.

"They definitely set the world record," said Stacy Baumann of Airway Flights Inc., a sponsor of the flight and Zentz' employer. Airway Flights has been in contact with the pair throughout their journey.

The flight record will be published in the World and Aviation and Space Record book published by the National Aeronautics Association. The round-trip journey is 6,000 miles.

The pair "took off" from Kenosha Airport in the "Spirit of Mundelein," in an attempt to set a world record, July 5.

The pair left Kenosha about 2 p.m. in the plane completed by the Mundelein High School aviation class in 1988 with their final destination being the Arctic Circle.

Quilters connect through skill, creativity

"The Chicago Quilt" created by Susan Auerbach and "Armistice, Mom I'm Home" created by Carlene Buck were chosen from 16,000 quilts to be in an exhibit, "Connecting Stitches: Tradition & Innovation in Illinois Quilts." Auerbach is currently working on a woodland flowers quilt.

Some of the most treasured quilts incorporate traditional designs passed on from generation to generation. Yet today's quilters are creating new treasures by using their creativity and skill to express experiences of family, community and mankind.

"Connecting Stitches: Tradition & Innovation in Illinois Quilts" is currently showing at the James R. Thompson Center in Chicago through Aug. 12. The exhibit celebrates the diversity and beauty of Illinois quilts registered with the Illinois Quilt Research Project. Although quilt research projects in many other states choose to only register old quilts, Illinois' exhibit believes the present will soon be history and registers any completed bed or crib quilt.

Of the 16,000 quilts registered with the Illinois Quilt Research Project, 40 were chosen for the exhibit sponsored by the Land of Lincoln Quilters Association and the Early American Museum.

Two of the quilts chosen were crafted by Lake County residents, a sparkling pictorial quilt by Susan Auerbach of Riverwoods and a moving symbolic quilt by Carlene Buck of Buffalo Grove.

Buck is pleased to share her quilt with so many people through the exhibit. "It speaks to a lot of people," said Buck. "I love what the quilt has to say. I didn't want people to feel anger, but to stop and think."

Buck's quilt, "Armistice, Mom I'm Home," is a tribute to soldiers who served in foreign wars, especially Vietnam.

Buck said she saw a photo of a Tin Man quilt created by someone in Cedarburg, Wisc.

"I loved it and when I started sewing it, I thought, 'They aren't really tin men, they're soldiers. They would be hurt.' So I See QUILTERS page B22

How to speak Hawaiian like a Kamaaina

by JIM WARKEN,
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

On my first trip to Hawaii, about all I learned is that almost all streets in Honolulu start with the letter "K" and could not be pronounced by anyone from the mainland. Well, I was wrong.

After learning a few simple rules, anyone can speak Hawaiian like a Kamaaina (a native-born Hawaiian).

Hawaiian, unlike English, is strictly phonetic. The missionaries who first wrote the language just spelled out the words exactly as they were spoken. Each letter in a word is sounded separately, even two vowels that come together. For example, the island Kahoolawe is pronounced Kah-ho-oh-lah-way. There are no silent vowels to contend with. No rules to remember such as if a vowel is "long" or "short."

There are a few vowel combinations, however, "Ai" is sounded as (eye), as in Hawaii. "Au" is (Ow) as in luau (that's where they roast the pig, etc.). "Ei" is (ay), as in "lei" (the flower necklace the pretty Hawaiian girl puts around your neck at the luau).

With those rules, and knowing the second to the last syllable gets the accent, you're on your way to speaking Hawaiian like a Kamaaina. See, you pronounced that right!

If it seems like many of the Hawaiian words look alike, it's because there are only 12 letters used in the Hawaiian language. Five vowels and seven consonants can only go so far. (Wheel of Fortune would be an easy game in Hawaiian).

How about a few simple words so we can practice? A man is a kane, a woman a wahine. You might roast a puua (pig) at a luau. When you want to thank someone, you say "mahalo".

If you ask for directions, Hawaiians will usually tell you that some place is either makai (towards the sea) or mauka (island), rather than referring to north or south.

Get out those Hawaiian brochures your travel agent gave you and try some of those city names. You'll find it's kind of fun once you get the hang of it!

Saddle up for Lyric Opera of Chicago

Lyric's Barrington and Northwest Chapters are invited to join Near North Chapter members, guests and other opera enthusiasts on Saturday, July 30 for a wonderful day of "horsing around" at Arlington International Racecourse to benefit Lyric Opera of Chicago.

The benefit day begins when the gates open at 11 a.m. and lasts as long as the horses do (usually 5:30 p.m.) A gourmet luncheon will be served in the elegant Million Room which offers a beautiful view of racing from comfortable dining room seating. Lyric supporters will be offered a private tour which includes the Winners' Circle and Arlington's European-style paddock where some of the finest horses in thoroughbred racing are saddled and paraded before each race.

For novice betters, a wagering host will be on hand to help you choose the winning horses. Between races, those who have not learned their lessons will have another chance "to place or show" with drawings from the "Second Chance Bowl".

Tickets are $65 per person and include entrance fees, racing programs, luncheon, tour of the racecourse facility and more. Call Pat Stelzer at 991-5746, Catherine Mura at 381-5745 or Andrea at (312)587-8480 for more details.

Quilters

took off a leg or an arm and used different fabrics to indicate scars. It came to me as I worked on it," explained Buck.

Buck said it was a quick project taking only nine weeks in 1987, Labor Day to Armistice Day.

Buck, originally from Coin, Iowa, had an uncle killed in his first day of battle in World War II and had two acquaintances killed in Vietnam.

During Vietnam, Buck was in college and said she didn't take sides on the war.

"People who went should be appreciated. That was really a gift," said Buck.

All of the quilts Buck has made have a story behind them, she said. She is currently working on a quilt about the Holocaust.

Auerbach's quilt was created for her daughter, Lisa Anne, now 26 years old. The quilt contains pictures of her daughter's favorite things about Chicago including Lincoln Park Zoo, Shedd Aquarium, Sears Tower and the Chicago Historical Society.

"The Chicago Quilt" was created between the years of 1977 to 1982.

"I grew up in Chicago and loved the city while my daughter was growing up in the suburbs. I took her downtown a lot and wanted her to see the city," said Auerbach. "She chose what she wanted on the quilt and we kept adding to it every year. Finally I put a moratorium on it saying I would never get it quilted."

Even after the quilting was completed, Auerbach added some of Lisa Anne's favorite things in embroidery along the edges. "There just wasn't room for everything."

Auerbach's current project is a quilt on woodland flowers of the Northern Illinois. She said in the 23 years since moving to Riverwoods many of the woodland flowers have disappeared. "I love the wildflowers and it's sad to see them go," said Auerbach, who is also a volunteer at Ryerson Nature Center.

250 miles per hour and fly 1,000 miles between fueling stops.

The pair first stop was Minot, S.D. July 6. The pilots left at 7 a.m. for Regina and Saskatchewan, Canada, and landed for the evening at Edmonton, Alberta.

According to Jackson's wife, Judy, "On Thursday, July 7, Jim and Tom visited Fort St. John, British Columbia, Fort Simpson (northwest territory) and Norman Wells, also northwest territory. They might have reached their final goal Thursday," continued Judy Jackson, "But, due to a large amount of forest fires, their visibility was poor so they had to continue toward their goal on Friday, July 8."

"The rivers are flowing north," said Jackson when he called home, "The country is rugged but beautiful," he continued, "And the plane is handling great."

Jackson and Zentz toured Alaska and Seattle before heading back to Mundelein in their Lancair. They were expected to arrive July 14.

The pair were recording their adventure with a Sony video camera provided by Airway Flight Services, Inc.

More than 50 students were involved in the construction of the airplane. Students also assisted in planning the flight route and collecting technical data for the flight.

This is the third plane to be built by Mundelein High School students and number four is already started. Parts for the planes the students build are usually financed by individuals who then receive the finished product.

The MHS program is the only known one in the nation to actually construct airplanes. Jackson and the aviation program have received eight major awards including the induction of Jackson into the National Teachers Hall of Fame.

The Bronson Gore Banks of Prospect Heights were the pair's major sponsor. — Correspondent Virginia Krueger contributed to this article.

LIFE'S A BEAR

DONNA ABEAR

Walk this way, avoid pitfalls

If you see two strange women stumbling down the street at 5 a.m. in mismatched sweats, their hair sticking up at strange angles from their heads, and a look of grim determination on their ghostly pale, makeup-free faces, don't be frightened—my friend Lorrie and I have taken up walking.

Yes, that's right. The "E" word. Much as I hate exercise, my fourth (and last) child is now eight months old and I can no longer use "baby fat" for an excuse. Not with a straight face, anyway. And with women like Jane Fonda on TV, who still looks great at 50, I can't even use my soon-to-be-40th birthday as an excuse, either. Bummer.

So, after careful study of the various forms of exercise available to me, I decided walking was a good way to start. A fairly harmless activity, with a minimal amount of sweat involved, right? Wrong. As my walking buddy Lorrie can tell you, "harmless" it's not. In fact, it can get downright dangerous.

First off, there are the cars. Though traffic is fairly light at 5 a.m., the few drivers up that early are usually in the same condition as we are. Half asleep. Of course, one good look at our make-up free faces as they narrowly miss hitting us, and they wake up instantly, gunning the motor and mumbling to themselves in shock, "Where are their faces? Those women had no faces!"

Even more dangerous than the cars are the neighborhood pets. The other morning we were surprised by the Hound of the Baskervilles, a German Shepherd who came barreling at us out of nowhere, snarling and snapping and causing both Lorrie and I to recite that line from the Lord's Prayer, "Yea, though I walk through the valley of death..." Just as we felt his breath on the backs of our legs, the owner appeared in his yard, saving us from becoming doggie chow. I guess you could call that our first "near death experience."

And speaking of death, I can assure you that viewing road kill in the morning has a very unsettling effect on an empty stomach. We have seen more toads, bullfrogs, birds and mice in varying death positions, from flattened with tire tracks to gory and bloated, than I ever thought possible.

Despite all these hazards, we're just not the sort of women to quit when the going gets rough. After four weeks of walking, we've devised our own little routines for dealing with all this danger and mayhem.

For those early morning drivers, we've purchased hunter's orange sweat suits and sunglasses. The bright orange makes us visible and the sunglasses prevent the drivers from going into shock from seeing women with no eyes.

For the less-than-friendly pets, we carry a tape recording of a snarling Rottweiler. Works every time.

As for the road kill, eventually you become hardened to it — we've stopped holding all those little roadside funerals. Now we just walk on past, repeating our new motto—"No guts, no glory!"

Good Food

Try a Southwestern veal roast

In this recipe for Chile Chipotle Veal Roast, chiles chipotles (intensely-flavored smoke-dried jalapeno peppers) are combined with green onion and garlic then used as a filling for a rolled boneless veal arm or blade roast. Each bite promises a flavor sensation — tender, delicious veal with a hint of heat.

Chile Chipotle Veal Roast

3 1/2 to 4 lb. rolled boneless veal shoulder arm or blade roast
1 teaspoon salt, divided 1 clove garlic, crushed

Filling:

1/2 cup thinly sliced green onions 1 clove garlic crushed
3 canned chiles chipotles, finely chopped, about 1-1/2 T.

Prepare grill for indirect grilling (coals piled up along the sides). Combine filling ingredients, set aside. Unroll veal roast. Sprinkle evenly with 1/2 teaspoon salt; spread evenly with filling. Roll up jelly-roll fashion; tie with string. Press remaining crushed garlic and remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt evenly into outside surface of roast.

Place roast on grid over medium-low coals, centering roast over drip pan. Grill to desired doneness, approximately 22 to 25 minutes per pound for medium. Add additional briquettes to each side of grill after 45 minutes to maintain cooking temperature.

Remove roast when meat thermometer registers 155 degrees. Let stand 15 minutes before carving. Roasts will continue to rise about 5 degrees in temperature to 160 degrees for medium. Remove string. Trim fat from roast; carve into thin slices. Serve with salsa if desired.

Costner's 'Wyatt Earp' realistic

Kevin Costner

This reviewer is beginning to wonder if Hollywood is suddenly short of writers with an ounce of creativity in their computers. Just about every film that shows up at the local cinemas lately is either a sequel, a remake, a thinly disguised remake of a remake or a version of a well-known legend.

Is there a person over 12 who has not heard of, witnessed via film, video; or read on that forgotten medium the book page, the shoot out at the OK Corral involving those famous brothers of the west and their tubercular friend?

The big question here is whether or not—with Hugh O'Brien's reruns still running on cable—we needed two movies, one after another, on this same subject, however well-made they may be.

Well at least the audience is pressured that there will be no surprises here—unless the writers have now taken to altering history in desperation since Mr. Earp and the others were real people and the happening historic fact.

The video stores are ballyhooing their version—"Tombstone," which stars Kurt Russell as Wyatt and Val Kilmer as the doomed "Doc" Holliday. This was a good film, more realistic than many of its predecessors and Kilmer turns in one of his best performances.

Now on the big screen we have a more lavish, much longer (sad to say) epic production of the same story starring Kevin Costner as Earp and an emaciated Dennis Quaid as Holiday. If one is to believe the history books, this one follows the true and less glamorous heroes even more factually. And it does it in a long, drawn out, three-hour way.

Director Lawrence Kasdan, who is no stranger to character introduction and analysis, does a particularly good job of making Costner and company real people, instead of just legendary figures, by leading us through Earp's childhood to find out what makes a good/bad guy into a legendary hero.

Mark Harmon plays the corrupt politician Earp is running against for sheriff. This is the real reason for the gunfight, not the much depicted enmity between the Earp brothers and the Clantons, etc.

Gene Hackman and Michael Madsen are the two siblings who take the famous long-coated walk towards the corral with their brother Wyatt.

Since, like Clint Eastwood's "Unforgiven," this is a dark and unglamorous western filled with murky characters who are not always too appealing, we found the romance between Costner and Earp's eventual wife in real life—played by Joanna Going—to be the best part of the film.

If one is the proper mood, being a western fan won't hurt, he or she might agree with us that this Earp version deserves four out of five stars.—by GLORIA DAVIS

DiMarco's offers exquisite Italian food, ambiance

DiMarco's Restaurant, located in downtown Antioch, has an intimate atmosphere and ambiance that is perfect for a romantic evening or a family night out.

Manager Donna DiMarco takes pride in the fact that DiMarco's is a family-run business, and that their commitment to giving their patrons the best is always met. DiMarco's was featured in the June issue of North Shore Magazine, receiving a three-star rating. The News Sun rates DiMarco's at three-and-a-half stars.

DiMarco's specializes in both northern and southern Italian cuisine and boasts a full menu of Italian fare. DiMarco's is best known for such dishes as calamari, mussels marinara, Ravioli Alforno with shrimp, Formaggio, and especially their Veal Venezia, a delicious family recipe you won't find anywhere else.

Seafood lovers can feast on the Zuppa Di Pesce, which features an abundant variety of seafood in a succulent marinara sauce over pasta. For dessert, DiMarco's offers a variety of pastries, or you can top off your meal with a tasty cup of cappuccino.

DiMarco's has seating for 110 and can accommodate banquets for up to 150 people. Donna said, "We've been in Antioch for four years now and have grown from a tiny storefront to a wonderful restaurant. Although we've expanded, we've been able to maintain the ambiance and intimate atmosphere diners enjoy."

You can find DiMarco's at 883 Main Street in Antioch, or may call them at 395-8883. DiMarco's is open at 5 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays; at 4 p.m. on Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays; and is closed on Mondays.

Over 20 years of family tradition at Sammie's

Since 1972, Sammie's has been offering their customers delicious food. What has become a family tradition that started in Chicago by brothers Sam and Joe Guinta has expanded into Grayslake and Round Lake Beach and, more recently to Fox Lake, which is owned and operated by Dave Keith. Although Dave is not a family member, he's been made to feel like one.

Sammie's has also developed another tradition of participating in the Lake County Fair. Their booth at the fair has grown from a 10-foot-by-10 foot tent to a facility that seats 100 people. "All the food is charcoal-broiled," says Joe. "It's definitely the food of the fair." Anyone who plans on attending the fair should definitely make a stop at Sammie's booth.

Sammie's takes pride in the quality of the food they serve and definitely don't take fast food for granted. It might be fast, but you always know it's going to be delicious. Some of the items on the menu include Italian Beef, Italian Sausage meatball, steak, and either fried or grilled chicken sandwiches. Sammie's also offers every kind of hot dog from Chicago style to Jumbo Polish, and of course, their famous Samburgers. Sammie's in Fox Lake features pizza while gyros are a popular item at the Round Lake location.

Sammie's also is health-conscious and offers a "lite" menu featuring grilled chicken breast and turkey sandwiches, garden salad, and grilled chicken salad. Also on hand are the traditional side items like french fries and onion rings, among others, and a full line of beverages to choose from.

If your taste buds need a treat, visit Sammie's, located at 799 Belvidere Road in Grayslake, 303 Rollins Rd. in Round Lake Beach, or 38 W. Grand (inside Yacht-Seas Bar) in Fox Lake.

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Insights are shrewd where money is concerned. A friend may be sullen or a bit critical. Also, guard against fatigue. Good news comes about a business concern. This weekend, social plans may not meet with expectations as a commitment is broken.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Tact and tenderness are needed in dealings with close ties this week. Don't say anything that could be taken the wrong way. Domestic interests are highlighted. Later in the week, dating and pleasure pursuits look promising.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) It may be difficult to complete a self-appointed task early in the week. Couples will have great times doing things together. Understandings are reached. It's not a good time to get feedback for your ideas at work.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Some people just aren't nice, so don't overreact to an unkind remark you may hear. Extra initiative brings you gains where business is concerned. The weekend is tailor-made for dating and romance. Still, be sure to guard against overdoing it.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) A relative who harps about a matter from the past may be tiresome but this is an excellent time for partying and the enjoyment of leisure interests. Getting your own way this week is problematic. This weekend, try not to overspend.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Guard against being too critical in social dealings. Your intellect is razor-sharp now. Getting an unfinished domestic task out of the way is a main priority. Your failure to make progress with a project could leave you feeling discouraged at work.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Bickering among friends may dampen your mood for socializing this week. You'll opt for time for yourself and your pet projects. Good news comes concerning money. You're effective in getting your viewpoints across to co-workers and bigwigs.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You're perceptive this week but guard against being overly suspicious. New beginnings are favored, especially in business. Act upon your ideas now! Later in the week, there may be a detail you overlooked so concentrate on tasks.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You may be intensely involved with a research project this week. A desire to explore new horizons leads to travel or you may sign up for a course of study. A person who just doesn't understand tries to give advice.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Some you deal with are close-mouthed and guarded in their opinions. This week's behind-the-scenes developments are favorable to you financially. Study is a plus. Early in the week there are difficulties with a friendship.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You'll have to read between the lines in business dealings this week. However, the main accent will be on social interests. Enjoy good times with friends and partners. This weekend, self-preoccupation may cause you to neglect someone.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) This week brings important business developments that will please you very much. New starts are favored. You may find a neighbor a trifle meddlesome. A partner's happy attitude rubs off on you. The weekend accents togetherness.

Foundation awards grants

ABBOTT PARK—Approximately 1,600 children of Abbott Laboratories employees and retirees will attend colleges and vocational schools this fall with assistance from the Clara Abbott Foundation. The foundation has awarded approximately 1,600 educational grants for the 1994-95 academic year totaling $5.8 million to students worldwide. The total includes grants to 531 students whose parents are employed at the company's Lake County operations and who reside in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin. Since 1953, the Clara Abbott Foundation has awarded more than 24,000 one-year educational grants valued at nearly $34 million, according to Barry Wojtak, Clara Abbott Foundation executive director. The Clara Abbott Foundation is a not-for-profit corporation established in 1940 under the will of Clara Abbott, widow of company founder Dr. Wallace Abbott, to help Abbott employees, retirees and members in their families.

Resort town makes change to residential community

NEAL TUCKER

Staff Reporter

It is no surprise why Fox Lake at one time was a major resort town for city and suburban dwellers alike. Many found the area affordable and closer to home than trendier locations in neighboring states.

The tourist trade escalated after the 1940s when the WPA had workers dredge out swamps during the depression to create the Chain O' Lakes as we know it today. The tourist industry was at its peak and the community thrived on the revenue it generated. Times have changed.

With the outward growth of Chicagoland, Fox Lake finds itself and its businesses taking on a different role. Each day the community has increasingly become a home to full-time residents. The change of venue has become a bane to the many bars that once dotted the shorelines of the three lakes that surround the village.

With an increase in population, came an increase in property values, followed by an increase in taxes.

"The owners of these bars were people who could do business four months out of the year, then close up and go to Florida during the winter," said Realtor Michael Lescher. Lescher is an agent with ReMax Advantage in Antioch, and specializes in listing and selling Chain O' Lakes properties.

The increases in taxes, along with the escalating cost of a bar's purchase price each time it was bought and sold made their operation a year-round proposition. Enter then another piece of the problem.

Boaters knew exactly where the bars were on the shoreline, but generally had no idea where to reach them by land during the off-season months. This predicament was complicated even more by the fact that Fox Lake does not have a contiguous lake shore street.

Bars could not depend on local trade because of their geographical placement. A common bar in Fox Lake is isolated in a completely residential neighborhood. Subsequently, bars began going out of business in the mid to late '80s.

Lescher moved to Fox Lake from Chicago in 1986. He had managed a restaurant for years and had also been a road musician, so it made sense for him to buy a bar. He owned and operated The Settle Inn on the shores of Pistakee Lake for two years, then leased the bar out for the next three.

In line with the coming trend, Lescher's required sale price for the property was prohibitive for anyone to buy it and still operate with a profit. He looked to other alternatives.

The Waltonian, a bar on the shores of Fox Lake had gone out of business earlier and the property had been subdivided into five lots for home sites. Taking that lead, Lescher had his property rezoned to residential, built a home, and sold it in 1991 for $230,000.

The change of use for the property also

The Puppet bar in Fox Lake was thriving in the early 80s when it was featured on the television show 'Real People.' Due to a change in tourist traffic and escalating real estate value, the bar closed in 1988. The 2-acre property is now being subdivided into five single family home sites—Photo by Neal Tucker had collateral benefits for its neighbors.

"That home there just sold for $150,000," Lescher said, pointing to a house backed by a channel off the lake. "There is no way it could have demanded that price if a bar were still in the neighborhood."

With new construction, existing homeowners also have seen an appreciable benefit in upgrading their houses. The upgrading of the community then expands the tax base.

Bob Heaney bought the former Sea Breeze Inn on Pistakee Lake for $250,000 in 1992. It was rezoned to multi-family residential and now houses three apartments.

The Pirate's Cove on Fox Lake closed in 1991. No buyers would take the business for the price so today it is a vacant lot being sold as a prime lakefront homesite.

If you want to build wealth, stop chasing yield

Fred Jones is a fictitious name for a real-life investor. In 1987, Fred took some of his retirement money and bought shares in a high-flying technology company. He was far from alone. Every other individual investor seemed to be hot after this particular stock as well.

After the October stock crash that year, Fred held onto his technology stock for two and a half years. He finally gave up and sold out at a loss. Immediately thereafter, the company's stock tripled in price.

Those who follow the herd in buying and selling investments are just as likely as Fred to reap poor results. This empirical conclusion has been confirmed in a study of mutual fund buying patterns conducted by a major mutual fund management company.

The mutual fund company examined nine categories of stock, bond and money-market mutual funds. For each category, the company calculated quarterly net sales (purchases of new investors minus dollars redeemed by departing shareholders). The firm then tracked those fund purchases over the next three months. If 25 percent of a given quarter's net sales went into money-market mutual funds, it was assumed that over the next three months, the herd-oriented investor had 25 percent in money-market mutual funds.

The results are dramatic and clear. The millions of Freds who bought at the peak of buying activity and sold along with the crowd would have earned a paltry 19.4 percent in the five and a half years since the start of 1987. That dismal return was even less than the 42.4 percent return all these individual investors could have obtained during the same period by putting their money in an average money-market mutual fund.

Suppose Fred had put all of his retirement money into common stock mutual funds and had left it there, no matter what the crowd was doing. Fred would have reaped a healthy 70.4 percent return on his dollars during the same five and a half years, according to the mutual fund company's calculations. Keep in mind that this period includes the October 1987 crash. Obviously common stocks more than recovered their overall value.

The study results hold several critical messages for investors. The first has just been demonstrated: chasing the highest yield available by trading in one hot investment for the next fad only produces mediocre results over time. This undisciplined behavior also racks up a lot of extra and unnecessary trading expenses that eat away at total return.

The second message: match the investment to the financial objective. A certificate of deposits is an appropriate place to put college tuition dollars that will be needed in no longer than three years. But accumulating a retirement nest egg, preserving capital during retirement, or building a college fund for an infant are long-term financial objectives that require long-term investments, such as common stocks or a mix of equities and bonds for more conservative investors.

It should be noted here that

CDs are federally insured and offer a fixed rate of return, whereas both the principle and yield of investment securities fluctuate with market changes.

Third message: buy and hold for periods of at least five years. The longer stocks are held, the lower the risk. Time is most definitely on the side of the patient investor.

Start now. No special insights into market timing of direction are needed. Building wealth consists of dedication, consistency and some discipline.

Changes

marks to experience a change to residential is the Puppet Bar. In the '80s, The Puppet Bar was a bevy of activity. One of the drawing cards were the dancing puppets that would come out for each song. The business was even featured on the television show "Real People" because of its uniqueness.

By 1988, the building was boarded up and sported a price tag of $495,000, primarily because it sits at the end of a narrow peninsula on 2 acres of prime lakefront property.

Listed by Lescher, the land has been subdivided into six lots. Five of the lots that are for sale measure 50 by 180 feet, and are listed at $79,900. The Puppet Bar will be leveled and the sites will be prepared within 30 days. Lescher said that most of the trees on the wooded lots will be spared by the bulldozer.

The 'smell' of 'sold'

You've often heard the expression, "You only have one chance to make a good first impression." That has never been more true than with the selling of a property. Besides the normal expectancy of cleanliness and good maintenance, another powerful sensory acuity can make the difference of a sale between your home and another property.

One of the most powerful "anchors" we have is that of our sense of smell. Leaves burning in the fall bring back fond memories, Mom's apple pie, bread baking, etc. These positive anchors create "good feelings." What happens, however, when the anchors are negative ones? Some cooking odors can be repelling, as well as animal smells, mold and tobacco.

It is very important when you are thinking of marketing your home that you get an objective opinion about this particular aspect of your sale. Sometimes, as with any habit, we don't notice a problem. If you are a smoker, there is a very good chance you will not be sensitive to the odors of tobacco, where a prospective buyer who is adamant about a no-smoking environment will be inclined to form a negative opinion of your home on a most correctable problem. Standing between you and your sale may be odors like sewer gases, mildew, bathroom smells, rancid odors, "kitty" or dog smells, medicinal odors and sulfur.

Besides doing some scrubbing yourself, there are alternatives. Most odors get absorbed into the carpeting and window treatments, and must be deep cleaned for a fresher fragrance. However, some odors are caused by chemical changes, and mold and mildew require a professional touch to alleviate the problem.

Air Technology, a Libertyville company, offers a rental program specifically designed for air purification in homes and properties. They claim a 3,000 square foot house can be deodorized within 48 to 72 hours, depending on configuration and air flow in the building. This is done with either a portable or temporary duct installation where a purification system uses a controlled emission process known as "oxygen saturation," or ozone purification where organic gas modules are "safely" oxidized to clean, fresh air. These units are rented on a daily basis and are said to rectify the problem.

The best decorating in the world can't overcome a pungent and unpleasant odor in a home. Don't overlook an obvious problem that is so easy to correct. Mold and mildew are caused from flooding and can be corrected with professional cleaning and drying through chemicals and high tech equipment. Animal odors, cooking odors and heavy medicinal smells need professional attention as well. A 500-pound Airwick or cookies in the oven won't overcome the "bad" smell in your home.

Don't lose a sale because your property "smells funny." Call in a pro to alleviate this easily correctable objection and get your home "SOLD!"

Grayslake firm provides for World Cup

Before the soccer teams of the world converged in Chicago for the World Cup, local Caterpillar dealer, Patten Tractor & Equipment Co., provided the heavy equipment used to ready the playing field.

McGovern Construction Corp., based out of Fort Myers, Florida, was contracted to renovate the natural turf playing surface at Chicago's Soldier Field in preparation for the World Cup '94 soccer matches. Patten Tractor & Equipment Co., the Caterpillar dealer in northern Illinois, provided three Cat 936F Wheel Loaders and a Cat 140G Motor Grader to get the job done.

The undertaking included the removal of the existing 110,000 square feet of turf that had been used as the playing surface. After the grass was removed, the motor grader was used to modify the existing soil profile.

First, approximately 4 inches (about 1,350 cubic yards) of soil was removed. This material was replaced with about 4,000 tons of washed sand. The sand was blended (tilled) into the top six to eight inches of the existing soil profile. The purpose of this procedure was to incorporate the sand into the field profile to promote quick root development and assist in draining the playing surface.

To ensure a world-class playing surface, the entire field was laser graded in compliance with the strict specifications established by World Cup Soccer, FIFA, and USSF.

Over 110,000 square feet of Patten Tractor & Equipment Co. provided equipment to help prepare Soldier Field for World Cup Soccer. The top four inches of soil were removed, replaced by 4,000 tons of sand mixed into the remaining top six inches of soil. The surface was then laser graded to World Cup specifications and covered with a special sod.

Bluegrass sod was installed as the new natural turf surface. The sod came from Colorado, over 1,000 miles from Chicago. The sod was chosen because it is grown in sandy soil.

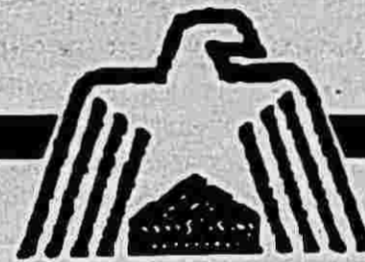

The sod was in four foot wide rolls and was 40 feet long. Prior to, and during, installation, noted NFL turf consultant George Toma supervised a pre-plant fertilization program as well as a detailed turf maintenance program to ensure that the new turf met the high standards of World Cup Soccer and FIFA.

The entire construction time was only 15 days.

"McGovern Construction Corp. specializes in the complete construction of professional and college natural turf sports and fields around the United States," said Bernard McGovern, vice president of McGovern Construction Corp. "We were pleased that we chose Patten Tractor & Equipment Co. to supply the Caterpillar equipment that was needed to complete this project. The equipment and service provided by Patten was excellent and we sincerely appreciate their assistance."

Patten Tractor & Equipment Co. is privately-owned Caterpillar dealership serving northern Illinois and northwestern Indiana since 1933. Patten offers sales, parts and service for Caterpillar track and wheel equipment, as well as Caterpillar truck and industrial engines. Branch locations include Elmhurst, Grayslake, Oglesby, Rockford and Hammond, Ind.

Waste jobs

I just heard that Wauconda protested the siting of hazardous waste in their community. You would think with the tremendous demand and all the money it could make that Fox Lake would make an ideal place for one. The mayor has already gone on record saying that he would rather live next to a cesspool that offer his people jobs. That is why he wanted the riverboats. If they want the riverboat because of the money and jobs it would bring, the waste site would be good for Fox Lake too.

Above the law

Channel 2 news ran an investigative report about our lawmakers in Springfield. They leave Springfield and they speed home and are not prosecuted by the state police. The main violator was our state representative Al Salvi. He was clocked by the investigative reporter while driving 100 mph. Other lawmakers were caught speeding as well, but not as fast as Salvi. These people are lawmakers. When interviewed they appear not to be bothered by this. These people are to be making the laws, not breaking the laws.

Mr. Lake County

I went to Barney's Island and the Miss Lake County pageant was going on. It had all the anorexic women in their teeny weenie bikinis. Where is the Mr. Lake County contest? I would love to see all these buffed guys running around in a Band-Aid and a rubber band. By the way, for those of you wondering, this is a woman calling in.

Drug decisions

I've had enough. I keep reading about these people who are anti-smoking/drinking/drugs. It has been good for me. It has worked for all my friends. If you are a wimp, don't do it yourselves. I'm very proud of you for realizing you can't handle it.

Board capacity

The Grayslake Library board has lost its capacity to serve the citizens. The board needs to resign and a new board should be put in place immediately to best serve the interests of the people.

Smell of smoke

I beg your pardon to the lady who says that all smokers smell. I'm a smoker and no one has ever told me I smell. None of my friends smell either. You must be the lady in front of me in the grocery line. Your body odor was so strong I couldn't stand it. And to the lady who doesn't like me polluting her air, what about the trucks, grills, building exhaust? If you want to have clean air, then dig a hole and bury yourself.

Not squirrely

This is a double thank you to the Fox Lake fire department and to Com Ed. When a squirrel blew out a transformer the power went out. The fire department was out within minutes to make sure that none of the seniors had been stranded in their elevators at Lakeland Apartments. Com Ed was there within 10 minutes time and worked for hours to restore the electricity to the building. Thanks again fellows for you fast work.

Baseball blast

So youth baseball wasn't perfect this year. Some kids played more and some played less. Some kids got by on their talent. Some got by on how much their parents did for the league. Maybe your coach wasn't the great guy he seemed at the beginning of the year. Maybe some parents didn't help. I wasn't pleased with all that happened this year either. But, my son said that this year was the most fun yet. He really tried his best, made some friends, and had a blast. So to all you coaches, umpires, and helpful parents, thanks a lot. You know who you are and I know who I am. So hopefully next year I'll complain a little less and have a great time. I hope all you other parents feel the same next year.

Postal protection

This is about the postal problem in Wauconda. I'm not personally involved in this problem but everyone should get involved and help. You should contact those necessary who can control those who are messing with our mail. Any government agency protects its own.

Billboards destroy

What continues to happen in northwest Lake County is sad. Why does the village allow one of those monstrous billboards built along our roadways. The sign in Hainesville is atrocious, and is so out of place in our countryside. Bravo to the Fox Lake board in denying the permit for one on Rollins Rd. Village trustees, wake up before you destroy what we have remaining in northwest Lake County.

Chief's town

This is in response to 'No cop.' I believe that Ed Sindles is the police chief in Round Lake Beach, not Round Lake.

Postal inspections

This is for all the people experiencing mail problems such as in Wauconda or Round Lake, such as I am having. You should contact your district supervisor who is on Fullerton in Carol Stream. You should set up a town meeting like has been done in Barrington, Addison and Oak Park. Maybe he will be able to straighten out some of the problems. I can't give his name but you can get by calling the post office in Carol Stream. I am a postal employee.

Dennis the Menace

In Wauconda there is a real life Dennis the Menace. He is 26. He portrays behavior that is symbolic of an infant. He is a live-in boyfriend of a postal employee. He has broken many laws, but remains free. He has already served five years for felony crimes. Dennis, while we love you as a person, we hate the things you do. Our community of prayers go out to you. While you slip through the hands of the law, you won't slip through the hands of God. Read Roman 10:9 in the Bible. Yours truly, from the people you love to hate in Wauconda.

Help some bunny

This is regarding the Mundelein police department. We attended a carnival where a baby bunny was hit. A girl picked up the bunny and was trying to save it. She went to the Mundelein police who were standing next to the barricade. All they offered to do was take the bunny up to the police station and throw it in the garbage. I was wondering if some animal rights activist could get involved. I can't believe they act like that. They were more worried about catching somebody who was drinking too much than they were about helping animals.

More mail fraud

The check isn't in the mail. My next door neighbor in Wauconda knocked on my door to show me for the second time an unemployment check that had obviously been opened and resealed. It was Scotch taped. For us residents, it is not too hard to figure out who is doing this. Yet we believe in being innocent until proven guilty. What we want to know is why anyone is not being tried. Is mail being opened and are checks being cashed?

Convicted to paint

In the Fox Lake Press is a picture of a man applying paint to a boat. Is it true that top officials are having prisoners maintain their boats? Is it also true that one prisoner ran away. Is there something wrong with this or can any citizen get this service?

New blueprint

To the good people of Grayslake, we have been lied to. The library board repeatedly told us that our library would be built in Central Park. They showed us blueprints and a scale model of the building showing trees and parking. Had the library showed us a picture of the Hook's Lumber site, with broken down sidewalks, a congested intersection, and railroad tracks, would we have given them $4.5 million for that? This board must resign.

Flag grounded

One of the big don'ts on how to display a flag is that it should be touching nothing underneath. That big flag on page one of the paper is clearly touching the ground. The Grand Old Flag should be raised at least a foot more. I'm surprised it made the front page. It is terrible.

Dollar fireworks

This is about the fireworks in Fox Lake. If Pete Jackstas of the Mineola Hotel spent $10,000 on the fireworks, which he held the village up for, then I'm a Chinese astronaut. It didn't start until very late and a lot of people had to leave. It wasn't worth the money the village paid him to put them on.

Hooked on what?

This is regarding 'Liberals are hooked.' Whoever wrote first part of that article must have been on drugs because the first part of it doesn't make any sense and the spelling is bad.

Bad apple

This is in response to the Lipservice regarding mail fraud. I get my mail delivered by the same person and I can vouch for the problems. A week after the mail pulling incident, there were seven cars parked in the parking lot of the apartment complex. We called the police at 9:22 to report suspicious activity. I called again at 9:50 and was told not to worry. At 10:29 I got a call from the sergeant who said they had more important things to do, and that they could not get involved. The next day, I went to the village hall and was told to 'leave this man alone or you'll have even more trouble that you already do.' People's cars are being keyed and the police say they can do nothing about it. In the mean time, people are living in motels because we have one bad apple the police say we can do nothing about.

Enough juice

Everyone I have talked with is sick and tired of O.J. Simpson. We do not need him 24 hours per day. He should go to court like everyone and have his trial. We don't need a constant review over the television. See LIPSERVICE page C5

Sink the sheriff

I was on the Chain O' Lakes boating. I was stopped by an officer and have never been treated so rudely in my life. My wife and children were present during the boat inspection. I hope the sheriff loses the election over this guy. It is ridiculous the way the command officer treats people.

Lack of facilities

I want to call and gripe. I went to see the fireworks at Lakeland Plaza in Fox Lake. I went to a business nearby to go to the bathroom and they said they did not have one. Two other businesses said the same thing. How do they go to the bathroom? We were prepared to pay money for things we were going to buy there so we decided not to buy anything at all. The place that was very nice was Dino's Den. It galled me that those other places said they didn't have a bathroom.

Vets not allowed

This is about the Fox Lake Fourth of July parade. I can't believe the parade had only one float this year. Why aren't any ribbons or awards to the best units? I think the parade needs a new director. I understand that Chief Bush excluded from the parade a professionally renowned motorcycle team of Vietnam vets because he did not think they would make a good impression on the community. Nice going chief. Isn't it enough that vets were shunned away 20 years ago.

Dance, drink & drive

I'd like to thank the firemen for throwing such a lovely dance. Unfortunately, many people do drive to get to the dance. After the event they officially put up their don't drink and drive sign on the front of the fire station. I wish the firemen would stop drinking and driving and promoting it like they do every year. It's stupid and they should stop it.

Asian patriotism

This is about the Antioch Lions Club selling flags on the Fourth of July for $1. Last year they gave them away but that is not the point. Please, have it made in the U.S.A. not China like the ones you gave away last year. I like being patriotic, but I want it made in the U.S.A.

Mail sky high

Blowing up mail boxes-I hope everybody had a nice Fourth. This is especially to the people blowing up mail boxes, which is a federal offense. Maybe you were seen or you weren't. If I had seen you, you would be sure to get rapped. You can also tell that school is out and some of them need money. Got any new stereos in the neighborhood?

Helpful explorers

There are several police explorer posts around Lake County. These posts do various tasks like helping handicapped residents. Let's give these teenaged kids a great big thanks as well as the police departments that sponsor them. This is totally volunteer.

Where there's smoke...

Antioch bought a $280,000 fire truck for the village and they also have two chief's cars. It's a volunteer fire department so why would they need two chief's cars? I understand they are also going to buy a new ladder truck. Why do they need a new ladder truck? This is supposed to cost over $300,000. Where are the sky-scrapers in Antioch?

Board mentality

One has to sit back and look at the Grayslake library board and question their mentality. I was just reading a letter to the editor congratulating the library board for moving from Central Park to the vacant lot at Hook's Lumber. How can this person applaud the library board for bilking the taxpayers out of an extra $400,000 and call the park district inept. He should look at himself as inept because he cannot understand that he has been bilked by the library board he is congratulating.

Juice up the courts

O.J. Simpson has nothing to worry about if he has the jury at the Rena Jensen trial. In Lake County they just let them off anyway. On the Fourth of July, we should just give the police the day off. It is a waste of time to take criminals through the justice system.

Board deception

The Grayslake Library Board is making a big mistake and they certainly aren't representing me. Their decision will have long standing repercussions for the whole community. The only character I see in this decision is the flaw in the library board with their deception. I say the library board should build this new facility in Central Park, or resign.

Wide variety of pines offers landscaping possibilities

Of all the needle-type evergreens, pines seem to show the greatest diversity of habitat, distribution and ornamental characteristics. Most are large trees, however, several species are dwarfish or shrubby and over their native range may vary from dense, compact, slow growing types (3 feet) to large trees (75 feet).

The trees species and cultivars of pine are used extensively in large scale landscape plantings such as parks, golf courses, estates, cemeteries, shopping centers and public buildings. If used on smaller residential sites, care should be taken in the design to plant single specimen plants instead of large mass groupings because of the overpowering effect. Remember the 1 to 6 foot Austrian Pine will one day reach 30 feet high by 25 to 30 feet in width.

Many pines offer unique shape, coloring and bark texture as they age and stand out if planted alone or in small groupings in the residential setting. The Swiss Stone Pine, Limber Pine and Austrian Pine will do well on a site that is open, windy and well drained. Many times these plants are used on berms to help block noise and roadways.

The Scotch Pine also is planted on berms, however, we feel this pine is best suited as a single, large specimen plant to be viewed daily in your garden. As this plant ages it becomes open and rounded showing an orange exfoliating bark. A very artistic accent to one's garden. Generally the larger, specimen plants are easily moved and provide this effect immediately.

The Pinus strobus, Eastern White Pine, should not be planted on a berm where heavy winds tend to thin this plant out. This plant is beautiful planted closer to the home, protected from high winds, and can tolerate some shade. The White Pine looks stunning when planted under the canopy of large trees in a random fashion to emulate a forested look. Will not tolerate wet soils for very long periods of time. When purchasing any pine, settle only for a specimen plant. A park grade or No. 2 pine never looks good in a residential setting and will never become a specimen plant.

Some unique pines showing contorted and weeping characteristics are: Pinus contorta "Spaan's Dwarf", a natural bonsai with short, green needles. The Pinus banksiana "Uncle Fog", is a bizarre weeping selection from Minnesota. The Pinus strobus "Pendula" weeps to the ground with age and the "Umbraculifera" develops an umbrella habit with age. This list goes on and on and many of these are available and grown in our area.

For foundation plantings or as an accent in a private garden, many dwarf varieties can and should be used. The Pinus mugo "ENCI" is a compact, round form and is a nice container plant or can be used in a small space in the garden. For a dense, dwarf mugo, the Pinus mugo "Oregon Jade" is available, and an excellent rock garden mugo is the Pinus mugo "Paul's Dwarf".

Pines have colors that range from blue-gray to silver-blue to powder blue and even a yellow-green band on needles. Shapes are from prostrate to contorted to weeping to tightly compacted to open to conical to bonsai. With these shapes and colors, the pine makes a great addition to anyone's garden.—by MIKE GRECO, landscape architect/owner of Mill Creek Nursery, Wadsworth

Controlling moss in the lawn

Moss can be a common problem in home lawns, particularly areas where trees shade the lawn. When trying to get rid of moss, it's best to determine why the lawn has thinned and allowed the moss to invade, according to Bruce Spangenberg, Extension Horticulture educator with the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service Center in Grayslake.

"Moss thriving in a lawn typically means the lawn is weak and has thinned out for some reason, allowing the moss to take over," Spangenberg states. "Among the common causes of moss invasion in area lawns are too much shade, compacted soils and poorly drained soils."

A common belief is to add limestone to kill moss. Limestone will raise the soil pH, and many soils in our area tend to have high pH values already. Thus adding limestone will make the soil pH go even higher and may just add to the lawn's problem.

Unless a soil test has shown a need, do not apply limestone to try to kill moss. There are a few options, however, explains Spangenberg. Ferrous ammonium sulfate or ferric sulfate (iron sulfate) can be used to control moss to some extent. Raking out moss is another option; usually followed by reseeding the area later this summer.

Lawns in the shade often decline and create ideal conditions for moss to develop. Begin the task of trying to grow grass in the shade by choosing a shade tolerant grass mixture, such as red fescue or other fine fescues. Next, prune vegetation to allow the maximum amount of light to reach the soil surface.

Once established, care of a lawn in a shady area is different than grasses grown in the full sun; mow as high as possible, fertilize less and water infrequently but deeply. Core aerating also is suggested to help keep moss from becoming a problem, both for shade and full sun lawns.

Making mulches from yard wastes

Mulch reduces evaporation from the soil surface, keeps down weeds and keeps soil temperatures from becoming too hot or too cold. Mulch also protects sloping ground from soil erosion and it stops soil compaction caused by driving rain on any soil surface.

In addition, mulch provides ideal conditions for earthworms and other soil organisms that are necessary for a healthy soil. When mulches break down they become a compost that feeds the soil. A good mulch will do all this and be readily available, free, easy to apply and will stay in place without much effort.

Annuals and perennials (both flowers and vegetables) should be mulched with a material that breaks down in a relatively short time, such as grass clippings and leaves. This allows tender plants to break through the mulch surface and it allows you to turn under the mulch on annual beds when the soil is dug.

Woody plant materials should be mulched with a thick layer of shredded or chipped wood that will look good and require little maintenance. Paths can also be covered with shredded or chipped wood, making it as thick as is practical to wear longer and to keep down weeds. To keep paths weed-free even longer, put down layers of cardboard before spreading the mulch.

Grass clippings can be spread regularly in thin layers over vegetable and flower beds, or mixed with leaves and spread in a thick layer. Spread grass clippings no more than one inch thick so that they don't mat and stop water from penetrating into the soil. Leaves of deciduous trees can be spread as mulch in the fall. Pine needles make a good mulch for acid-loving plants such as rhododendrons, azaleas and blueberries.

Thomas Pocrnich

Age 61 of Antioch, IL died Thursday, July 7, 1994 at the Virginia Regional Medical Center in Virginia, MN. He was born March 30, 1933 in Buhl, MN to John and Frances (Murgich) Pocrnich. He was a 1951 graduate of Martin Hughes High School in Buhl, attended Virginia Junior College and the University of Minnesota-Duluth and received his master's degree in chemical dependency in 1980 from Winona State University. He was an Air Force veteran of the Korean War. He had been an Antioch resident for the past 25 years, where he had taught biology and instituted the Round Lake Area School's Chemical Dependency Program.

Survivors include his wife Dianne; three sons Thomas T. (Kim) and Michael S., both of Antioch and John C. (Pam) of Lindenhurst, IL; one daughter Laura (Kurt) Klemle of Lake Villa, IL; four grandchildren; one brother John (Angie) of Federal Way, WA; two sisters Helen Stevens of Pine Mountain Club, CA and Mary (Bill) Courtney of Willowbrook, IL; and numerous nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by his parents and one sister Anne McDougal.

A memorial service will be held on Wednesday, July 20, 1994 at 7 p.m. at The Chain of Lakes Community Bible Church, Antioch, IL. Burial will be in the Lakeview Cemetery in Buhl at a later date. In lieu of flowers, donations in his memory may be made to the Thomas Pocrnich Memorial Youth Program Fund - Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (NICASA), 31979 Fish Lake Road, Round Lake, IL 60073 (they will be handling the fund).

June B. Bute, nee Wilkinson,

Age 74, of Round Lake Beach, IL passed away Tuesday, July 5, 1994 at Royal Terrace Nursing Home, McHenry, IL following a lengthy illness. She was born in Richmond, IL June 13, 1920, had resided at Grayslake, IL over 40 years and had made her home at Round Lake Beach the past 30 years. She was a member of Kingdom Hall, Jehovah's Witness, Round Lake Congregation. She had been formerly employed as a secretary with Lake County Court House, Waukegan, IL.

She leaves her husband Chester; two sons Robert (Joy) Bute of Wisconsin and David (Carol) Bute of Mesa, AZ; three grandchildren; two great grandchildren; two sisters Opal Johnson of Norman, OK and Audrey (Alvin) Kasten of Harvard, IL; two brothers Frank Wilkinson of McHenry, IL and Harold (Arlene) Wilkinson of Johnson City, TN; as well as numerous nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by a daughter Beverly in 1952.

Funeral services were offered at 2 p.m. Saturday, July 9, 1994 at Kingdom Hall, Jehovah's Witness, Route 120 and Cedar Lake Road, Round Lake, IL. Interment was private. Local arrangements entrusted to Strang Funeral Chapel, 410 E. Belvidere Road, Grayslake, IL. In lieu of flowers, friends may contribute to American Cancer Society or Lake County Heart Association in her memory.

How To Write A Bestseller.

Give the reader all the specifics.

Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as:

- color • size • condition
- brand name • age
- features • and benefits

Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts.

Include the price.

Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

Avoid Abbreviations.

Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in-kitchen) or WSW tires (white side wall) and won't take the time to figure them out.

Include phone number & hours.

Let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

Run consecutive weeks.

Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your sales representative. Run your ad for at least two weeks.

The Lakeland Newspapers friendly classified advertising representatives are happy to assist you with your ad over the phone. They even assist you with writing your ad. Just call (708) 223-8161 to place your classified ad. Representatives will help you with your ad by phone Monday thru Thursday, 8 am to 8 pm and Saturdays 8:30 am to 2 pm. You can also place your ad in person at:

PUBLIC NOTICE ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS PROSPECT DRIVE WATERMAIN IMPROVEMENTS VILLAGE OF LINDENHURST LAKE COUNTY, ILLINOIS

Sealed proposals for the improvements described below will be received by the Village Clerk at the:

Village Hall
Village of Lindenhurst 2301 E. Sand Lake Rd.
Lindenhurst, IL 60046

until 1 P.M., local time, August 3, 1994 at which time all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

The project consists of approximately 300 LF 10 inch watermain including hydrants, valves, and other appurtenances. All of the project lies within the Village of Lindenhurst. Each proposal shall be accompanied by a Proposal Guaranty (in the form of a Bidder's Bond, Cashier's Check, Certified Check or Bank Draft) in the amount equal to at least ten (10%) percent of the amount of the proposal as a guaranty that if the Proposal is accepted, the Bidder will execute the Contract, and file acceptable Performance and Payment Bonds in the full amount of the Bid or Proposal within ten (10) days after the award of the Contract.

The Village Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, to waive any technicality, and to accept any bid which it deems advantageous to the Village. All proposals shall be valid for a period of sixty (60) days.

Drawings, Specifications and Contract Documents may be examined at the Village Hall. Copies may be obtained from the office of Devery Engineering, Inc., 200 Peterson Rd., Libertyville, Illinois, 60048, (708) 362-9622, upon payment of a non-refundable fee of $20.00 for each set. Each set includes drawings, specifications and contract documents. Payment shall be in cash, or check drawn payable to Devery Engineering, Inc.

Bidder is to furnish a resume of his qualifications and work experience with his proposal.

Not less than the prevailing rate of wages for the area shall be paid to the workmen employed to do the work under this contract.

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Q: I have changed my residency as well as my telephone number within the last three weeks since sending out several resumes. Is it proper for me to contact these companies by telephone to inform them of the changes since they will be unable to be in touch with me? M.L. - Round Lake
A: Dear M.L. Yes! It only seems logical that if a company is interested in you they will be unable to find you. The professional thing to do is to immediately re-do your resume instead of crossing out your old address and telephone number.
Q: As an employer in the Lake County area I am appalled by the number of people who I have recently hired for a $6.00 or $7.00 an hour position who do not show up for work. Why is it that with the amount of unemployment in this area, people accept jobs and work for one day and take the next off for such feeble excuses. I have employees on staff within the last three months who have taken more time off then is normally allowed in a one year period. I'm finding there to be so much in the way of irresponsibility out there. What can we do to help keep our "time off" problem under control? S.L. - Libertyville
A: Dear S.L. When hiring these people it is important that you set the ground rules from day one. In a recent conversation with a large corporation, it was told to me that one way is to build up incentives for days NOT missed. Another way mentioned was that when one of their employees missed a day of work that was not acceptable for whatever reasons the company set forth, they would then suspend that person for an additional day or two with no pay. Again these rules must be set forth from the beginning and apply to all. Personally, the incentive procedures work well. These range from bonuses at year end, to additional accrued vacation time or accrued time off. It seems to work well. Of course your initial interviewing procedures are important as well as the references that are checked on these employees. If excessive time off is the problem, make sure that is a key question asked when checking references is whether or not that former employee had any problems in that area. Hope this helps!
Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 5101 Washington St., Gurnee, IL 60031.

RALEIGH
The remarkable Raleigh is a unique home tailored for the family that enjoys life. Pleasing to the eye, the brick and wood trim exterior, with a covered front porch and myriad of windows, exhibits an elegance in which any home owner will take pride.
The admirable exterior, however, is only a prelude to the superb interior floor design. Gracious hosts may guide guests into the vaulted living room for coffee and conversation while savoring a toasty fire from the gas fireplace. Arched walk-throughs lead smoothly into the family room, with a wood fireplace, on one side and dining room on the other. Plant shelves on top can add a touch of greenery. Plenty of space and easy traffic flow are an integral part of this design. A stairway leads down to an unfinished basement, which could serve as the family game room, home office or for extra storage.
The walk-in kitchen, featuring a central eating bar, generous pantry, raised dishwasher, ample counter space and built-ins galore, make this a cook's delight. Serving meals either in the vaulted formal dining room or in a more relaxed atmosphere in the adjacent breakfast nook is a snap. Sunshine or not, a sliding glass door allows you to relish a Sunday brunch on the large covered deck awash with skylights.
The exquisite master suite is practically a home within a home. With a covered porch and optional spa, it occupies one entire side. Amenities include a window seat, ideal for relaxing with the latest novel or just a quiet spot for contemplating the events of the day, large walk-in closets, entertainment center and security system. The huge bathroom has an oversized tub, shower, separate toilet space and twin basins - all lit by overhead skylights. A private entrance takes you to the porch.
At the opposite side of the home are two bedrooms, each with a cozy window seat and good sized closet. A full, skylit bathroom is conveniently located in the shared hallway. The handy utility room, with an additional closet is accessible from the combination garage, shop and storage area, where pull down stairs lead to the modest attic.
For a study kit of the RALEIGH (334-010), send $9.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number). For a collection of plan books featuring Landmark's most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark.

Scrimmage may help Vikes decide starting 11

Lake County Vikings coach Kurt Kampendahl will be holding an inter-squad scrimmage at Round Lake High before the exhibition opener.—Photo by Steve Peterson

Semi-pro football returns to Lake County when the Lake County Vikings conduct an intrasquad scrimmage July 16.

The game will mark the debut for new head coach Kurt Kampendahl and is a week before the exhibition opener.

"We have been coming along, but attendance is not as good as I would like to see," Kampendahl said.

The 11 a.m. scrimmage is at Round Lake High.

"If players are waiting for the last week of practice to come out, it may be too close to the exhibition opener to start. We have done a lot of conditioning,"

Kampendahl said. "It is imperative that players come out for the scrimmage because decisions will be made based on the scrimmage," Kampendahl said.

Three quarterbacks are fighting it out for playing time. Chris Hare, Todd Brown and veteran Wes Quist are even in pre-season drills, Kampendahl said.

Cary Haith is back in the backfield. The coach said the wide receiving corp is a good group.

"Defensively, we have had enough for 11 players. But some players may have to go both ways," Kampendahl said. "Our weakest points are on the offensive and defensive lines."

As the exhibition opener nears, the conditioning has been replaced with running of plays.

The Vikings have their exhibition opener July 23 at 4 p.m. at Dougdale Field in Waukegan against the Chicago Tunder.

The Vikings compete in the Midwest Football League. The Vikings division includes Racine, which retired Kampendahl's No. 74.

"I do not think I will be a rah-rah coach. I would like to stay on an even keel like Don Shula," Kampendahl said.

Tourney's top spot to Libertyville

Stevenson High will host the finals of this season's summer high school baseball tournament.

Action begins with first-round 5 p.m. games July 18. Libertyville is the first seed and Stevenson is the second seed with both earning first-round byes.

Libertyville faces the winner of No. 9 Carmel at No. 8 Zion-Benton July 19.

Stevenson will take on the winner of No. 10 Round Lake at No. 7 Crystal Lake Central at SHS July 19.

Lake Zurich, the No. 4 seed, hosts No. 13 St. Viator in first-round play. Should the Bears win, they would play the No. 12 Marian Central vs. No. 5 Mundelein winner July 19.

No. 6 Antioch hosts No. 11 Crystal Lake South in another first-round game. Should the Sequoias win, they would play the Cary-Grove vs. Buffalo Grove winner in the second round.

Semifinals are July 20 at 2 and 5 p.m. at Stevenson.

The title game is set for 5 p.m. July 21 at Stevenson.

CLS shootout proves test of pre-season status

Although the Crystal Lake Shootout did not feature any championship games for area teams, basketball coaches believe the fourth annual event was an important off-season test.

With dozens of college coaches on hand as well as hundreds of fans, Lake Zurich, Stevenson and Antioch vied to reach Sunday's title round. Lake Zurich and Stevenson were eliminated Saturday.

"St. Charles was the toughest team we played. I think the tournament went pretty good," Tim Phillips of Lake Zurich said.

The Bears were ousted 65-57 by St. Viator in a game, as many in November will be, decided by rebounding.

"We used the tournament to give the players an understanding of what we are trying to do," Lake Zurich Coach John Zarr said.

Zarr is in his first year guiding the Bears after the six-year Doug Cook regime. Zarr is certainly no stranger to the Lake Zurich sidelines, as he has been an assistant for 16 years.

Most of the Bears who played in the South tourney will be juniors. Players who figure on seeing a lot of playing time this winter are: Jim Roberts, Matt Lang, Tom Wendt, Pat Devito, Jason Jacobs, Randy Witt, Erick Reinholtz, Ryan Schwede, John Gifford and Phillips.

"For the first eight minutes of the St. Viator game, we traded baskets," Zarr said.

The Bears d o w n e d DeKalb 54-49. "We beat a pretty good John Zarr basketball team. We shoot the ball well and we should have a good perimeter game. But we have a long ways to go," Zarr said.

The Bears are hosting a six-week summer camp. They are also competing at a Harper College league in Palatine.

The South tournament is played in a month when college coaches may evaluate players. The 32-team meet includes a sudden-death overtime. No individual scores are kept.

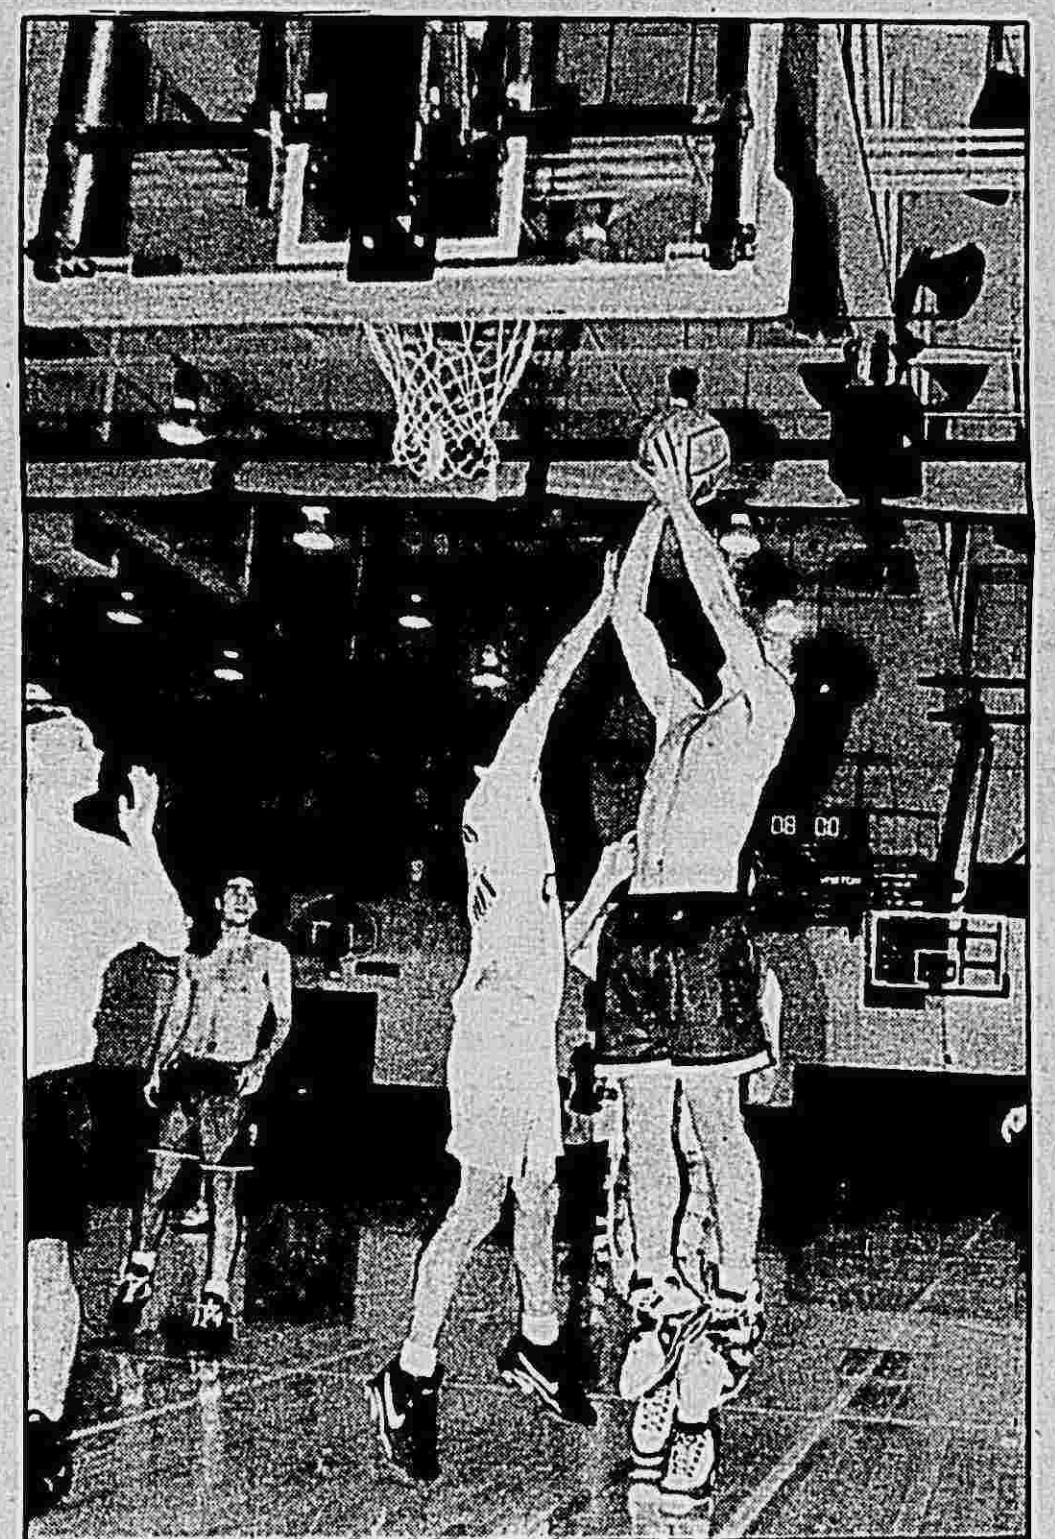

"It is a very well-run tournament," Zarr said.

"We were sanctioned by the NCAA and this year's tournament was listed as a "don't miss" for college recruiters," Crystal Lake South Coach Gary Collins said.

Stevenson Coach Ken Johnson, whose team won the first Crystal Lake South Shootout four years ago, likes the format.

"Our kids did a pretty decent job. There will be a lot of competition for jobs," Johnson said.

Names such as Addam Berry and Quinten Simicek may be replaced by Ryan Pullman, Charlie Wurm, Jeff Gasner, Al Smith and Dan Brown.

Chiefs realize their goal: gain spot in World Series

Lake County Chiefs baseball team is headed north.

North to Burnsville, Minn. that is.

The Chiefs 12 and under team gained a second-place finish in the AAU tournament at Thiellens Stadium in Chicago.

"I would have preferred to finish in first place, but overall, I was pleased with the way we played. We have a very smart team," Chiefs Manager Art Mansavage said.

The Chiefs will play in the AAU World Series in Burnsville Aug. 6-13. Fox Valley, out of Aurora, topped the Chiefs 6-4 in the title game to gain first place.

In the finish of a suspended game which ended Friday in a 6-6 deadlock, the Chiefs took control and won 13-8 over Fox Valley. Mac Mansavage of Riverwoods gained the win as he gave up 2 runs on 2 hits, striking out 5 and giving up 1 walk.

Mansavage helped his own cause with a double. Mike Bruszer of Deerfield had a solo home run on a 2-for 4 day, Steve Ruh of Northbrook was 3-for-5 with 1 RBI; Josh Booch was 2-for-5 with 2 RBIs and Matt Rollins was 2-for-4 with 2 RBIs.

Also, Mike Crane of Lake

Zurich was 3-for-4 with 1 RBI and Austin Turner of Buffalo Grove was 3-for-4 with an RBI.

That win forced the second game to determine who wore the gold medal. Matt Bonuso of Arlington Heights started the game and did not give up a run in three innings on a 3-hitter with two strikeouts and a walk. He also had a hit.

Dustin Dobslaf surrendered all 6 runs as the Fox Valley team took a 6-2 lead. The big blow was a 3-run home run.

The Chiefs battled back for a 6-4 deficit, but left two runners on base in the seventh inning.

Rollings blasted a pitch to deep center field, unfortunately right where the defense was playing.

Booch had a home run, John Glatt of Riverwoods had a double and Jamie Jankowski of Lake Zurich was 1-for-3 with 2 RBIs. Booch was 3-for-4 with one RBI. Josh Baker had a hit and drove in a run.

The Chiefs have a game at Glenview July 15 before defending a tourney title at Genoa City July 16 and 17. The Chiefs play Wilson Park of Milwaukee at 12 p.m. July 16.

"We need to work on our communication and all knowing on," Mansavage said.

Chiefs battle back, gain try at AAU

It took some battling with the clock as well as Mother Nature and opponents, but the Lake County Chiefs secured a spot in the World Series in Burnsville, Minn. at the state AAU tourney.

The Chiefs battled Fox Valley for the title, needing two games to become champion as they were coming out of the losers bracket at Thielen's Stadium.

The first game with Fox Valley started Thursday but had to be continued until Friday morning due to rain. The Aurora based team outlasted the Chiefs 7-6 on game-tying and game-winning home runs.

That put the Chiefs in a must-win situation against former teammates from Waukegan. The Chiefs prevailed 7-6, forcing the title round games with Fox Valley. Waukegan settled for third place.

The Chiefs led 6-4, only to see Waukegan come back and gain a 6-6 tie. Mike Bruszer started the seventh inning with a single a walk, stole second and one out later scored the winning run on Jamie Jankowski of Lake Zurich's single to left.

Mac Mansavage won the Waukegan game with a save from Dustin Dobslaf.

Dobslaf was the winner in the Fox Valley game.

In the third round, the Chiefs shutout Wheeling 8-0.

Austin Turner of Buffalo Grove pitched 4 inning 1-hitter, with no runs or walks and a strikeout, earning the win.

Mike Crane of Lake Zurich pitched 3 innings of no-hit ball with no walks and one strikeout. At the plate, he was 2-for-2.

Chris Lucente of Northbrook was 1-for-2 with 2 RBIs. Bruszer was 2-for-4 with 2 RBIs. Josh Brock of Lincolnwood had an RBI and Jankowski was 1-for-3 with one RBI.

Also contributing were: Turner 1-for-2 with one RBI; Dobslaf had a hit and Jason Baker, of Libertyville, had a hit and RBI.

The 11-and-under Chiefs were eliminated with a 1-0 loss to Waukegan. The Chiefs had multiple opportunities, leaving 7 runners on base.

Atoms recruiting for fall season

The Zion Atoms Hockey Association is seeking both players and coaches from throughout the county for its '94-'95 season.

Children ages first through 12th-grade are eligible to participate in the league which plays from September through March in the Zion Ice Arena.

A meeting for interested coaches will be held July 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the Zion Leisure Center.

Players registration will be Aug. 3 from 7 - 9 p.m. in the leisure center.

For more information on the league contact Todd Seputis at 356-1046.

Memorial Day winners repeat at Wilmot Speedway

MICHAEL H. BABICZ

Correspondent

Dick Colburn of Muskego, Wis., Dennis Spitz of Kenosha, Wis., and Waukegan's Rob Olson each won their second features of the season in the sprint, modified and sportsman divisions, at Toft Auto Racing's Wilmot Speedway July 9.

For each competitor, their first Budweiser Racing Series main wins in the division came during the Memorial Day weekend.

Tom Musgrave took the early lead in the 25-lap sprint main. On lap four, Musgrave hooked an infield tire and spun, with Colburn and the rest of the field narrowly missing the disabled mount.

Colburn took over top spot in the G&G Trucking/Shaver Construction/D.W. Demler Landscaping Stuff machine on the restart. Cautions on laps six, 10 and 23 kept closing the field up on the four-time Wilmot champion.

"Larry Miller, my car owner, spent $1,800 on parts for the motor this last week to get it running right," revealed Colburn.

"The crew worked around the clock and it all paid off. Tom was running well, and I don't think you could have put a playing card between us when he spun. It was awful close," Colburn said.

Jerry Doles took a brief one lap lead at the start of the modified 20-lap main. Spitz worked his JB Engines/Fatman's Inn/NAPA of Waukegan modified into the lead using the outside on lap two.

Four cautions kept erasing Spitz's lead. Doles kept a pack of four behind him battling for second until just after the caution on lap 14.

"I'm glad I made my move when I did," said Spitz, who admitted he was concerned about fuel due to the caution periods. "The car ran super and the entire crew virtually rebuilt it from last week when we bent the front axle."

The sportsman main required a restart when bad luck polesitter Jim Bennett spun in turn one. Bennett's bad luck was good for Olson as it moved Olson to the pull in the adjusted lineup.

Olson put the Hillary & Associates/Frank's Lounge/Midwest Motorcoach Camaro into the ensuing green.

Olson stuck to his line to pick up the checkerboard flag. Poehler was second, Dave Holden came up third in the closing laps with Devall fourth and Larry Surleta fifth.

"We don't have a lot of horsepower, so we stuck to our line and it worked," said Olson. "I hate to say that I was glad to see Jim spin, but his bad fortune proved to be the break we needed to get a better starting spot and it worked to our advantage."

Wilmot Speedway returns to action with the "Sizzlin' Summer Night Series" on Friday Family Fun Night, July 15. Mini-modifieds, sportsman and street stocks are on the program along with "Beat Your Neighbor" one-on-one racing.

Exhibition riding lawnmower races are panned by the U.S. Lawnmower Racing Assn. A surprise celebrity race is also planned.

On Saturday, July 16, "Wisconsin's Clay Center of Speed" will host Body Craft of Antioch Night featuring sprints, modifieds and mini-sprints in the only area all open-wheel program.

Friday racing begins at 7:30 p.m. with Saturday at 7 p.m.

Ditka bowls for Leukemia on August 6

Mike Ditka will serve as honorary chairman of the second annual Joe Marconi Memorial Pro-Am Bowling Tournament "Strikes Against Leukemia," Aug. 6 at Brunswick Deer Park Lanes in Lake Zurich. Registration starts at 11:30 a.m. and the event begins at noon.

Joe Marconi was on the '63 Championship Chicago Bears along with teammate and friend, Mike Ditka. Marconi passed away from leukemia in 1992; with the help of his wife, Jan, the Foundation organized a fund raiser in his memory.

Leukemia is a malignant condition in which white blood cells grow beyond the needs of the body, eventually interfering with the function of vital organs, and if uncontrolled, causing death. It is the most common cause of death among young people, second only to accidents.

Participants can bowl with 20 professional bowlers, former Bears Bob Parsons and Ted Karras and other alumni plus celebrity sports casters including Mike North and Dave Baum (WSCR, The Score Radio), Norm Van Lier (Sportschannel and WMVP), Steve Kashul (Sportschannel), Peggy Kusinski (CLTV) and Dan Pompei (Chicago Sun-Times).

The highest pledge earner can win two tickets to anywhere in the U.S. or Mexico from American West Airlines. Second place prize is a weekend for two at the Marriott Lincolnshire Resort and third place winner receives Bears tickets and brunch.

Entry fees are $100 per four-member team; $30 for adults and $10 for children under 12. Registration deadline is Friday, July 29. All proceeds benefit the Leukemia Research Foundation.

Sponsors include Brunswick Recreation Centers, Brunswick Deer Park Lanes, America West Airlines, Lakeland Newspapers and Monarch Technical Services.

To register or for more information call the Leukemia Research Foundation at 480-1177.

MICHAEL FOHRMAN OF FOHRMAN DODGE

Ever wonder why golf courses have 18 holes instead of some other number?... Actually, in the early days of golf's development in Britain, different courses did have different numbers of holes... For example, when the first British Open was played, at the Prestwick Club in 1860, that course had only 12 holes... Some other courses then had 7 holes, some had 8, some had 14... But the most famous course, St. Andrews of Scotland, just happened to have 18 holes--and in the years following 1860, other courses increased to 18 holes merely to follow the pattern set by St. Andrews... And, thus 18 holes became the standard for golf courses everywhere.

One of the strangest teams in baseball history was the 1930 Philadelphia Phils... All 8 regular players on that team batted over 300 that year--yet the team finished in LAST place!

How fast could you drive a car in the old days?... The first auto race in the U.S. was held in Chicago 1895... It was a 50-mile race, and the winning car traveled at the average speed of --believe it or not-- 7 1/2 miles per hour!

I bet you didn't know... For over 14 years, Fohrman Dodge has been arranging purchase plans for military personnel regardless of pay grade or credit history.

Fohrman Dodge's Award Winning Service Department will handle all your service needs regardless of make, model or where you bought your vehicle.
